SEMO Objects To Pay $3.5 Million For Flood Easements

WASHINGTON AP--Strenuous objection was voiced Thursday by a delegation from Southeastern Missouri to a proposal that local interests by required to pay an estimated $3.5 million for new flood easements in the New Madrid floodway.

A. L. Story of Charleston, Mo., headed the group in testimony before a Senate public works subcommittee. He is president of the St. John's Levee and Drainage District.

Army engineers recently recommended some modification and change in the Mississippi River levee system at the New Madrid floodway. Engineers said that because of the proposed change, they believed new flood easements were needed in the 33-mile long floodway, and recommended local interests provide these easements.

The government now has flowage easements across the floodway, purchased at $21 an acre about 30 years ago. Story questioned the need for new easements now, since exactly the same land is involved.

If new easements are required he said, then local interests should not be required to foot the bill.

The river levee system is designed so that when flood stage reaches about 55 feet the waters overtop a fuse plug section of the levee and flow throught the floodway. This is for the purpose of averting a flood across the river at Cairo, Ill.

Army engineers propose to alter the plan so that the levee in front of the floodway would be raised and be artificially breached whenever the river reaches 58 feet at Cairo. This, they said, would presume that the floodway would be used only once in 80 years, rather than once in 17 years as at present.

Story said the spillway provides no benefit to residents in the area--it benefits only Cairo. He asked that the modifications be approved by the committee without the easement payment requirement.

Fifteen Percent To Be Paid From Fed. Grain Co.

Mr. John Hux, federal receiver for Federal Grain Company, said today that May 3rd he will appear before the U. S. District Court, the Southeast Division, at Cape Girardeau, to see if the court will allow 15% more to be paid to farmers who had grain in the Company at Vanduser.

This 15% will bring the total now paid to the producers to 90% of the original amount due. The payment this time will be from $95,000 to $100,000.

The next step, Mr. Hux said, after this one, will clear the deal up. But this doesn't mean that it will be cleared as to the total finances involved.

The farmers that the Grain Company owed money to took it upon themselves to get their grain out of the grainery. Twenty truck loads of grain, averaging 225 bushels to the truck were taken above the protests of the manager and the urgings of Sheriff John Dennis not to take matters in their own hands.

The Vanduser elevator contained some 70,000 bushels of grain under government loan and federal officials assume some of the grain must have been under government ownership.

A restraining order was put in effect against transferring any assets from any of the Federal Grain Co. Warehouses or removing any grain from elevators.

In event that there is not enough cash to take care of paying off the grain producers in full, then the cash that is available will be divided pro rata.

Before this was done the farmers were very uneasy because of indebtedness to the tune of thousands of dollars. There were threats at the time that bankruptcy suits would be brought against the Grain Company, but upon the advice of other farmers in the same shape and advice from lawyers these suits were never brought into existence.

The company was rumored to have assets at the time of $608,000.00., but this did not include the costs of the lawsuits filed against it, including a mechanic's lien suit filed against it by a Cape Girardeau contractor.

Kennett Youth Loses Life In Bar Ditch

The highway patrol reported one drowning, five accidents, and five injuries over Troop E area in the past 24 hours.

Johnnie Oakes, 16, Kennett, drowned in the bar pit, located between Kennett and Senath about 5:30 p.m. yesterday, as he and three companions went to the six-foot deep hole to swim. The three companions were the first to leave the swimming hole, but returned a short time later to look for their companion, who was not a good swimmer. The body of the Stephens boy was found at 8:30 p.m.

In a highway accident at the edge of Morehouse at 4:40 p.m. yesterday, Herschel Stephens, 61, Morehouse, who was driving a 1950 Dodge pulled out from Highway E into the side of a 1960 Volkswagon going east and driven by Edward Aldrich, 21, Sikeston. Neither driver was injured. No ticket was issued.

Malden Schools Lose Teachers

MALDEN-- Malden schools will lose at least eight teachers this year, and there is a possibility of losing at least one or two others, according to Alva DaVault, superintendent of schools.

Seven teachers have resigned to accept teaching positions elsewhere and one teacher will retire at the end of the 1964-65 term.

Home Show Opens Fine Exhibit!!!

It's here, yes siree, the seventh annual Jaycee Home, Farm, Auto and Sports show opens its three day stand today at the Armory and you can find the Jaycees busily engaged in wrapping up last minute details and solving the last minute wrinkles.

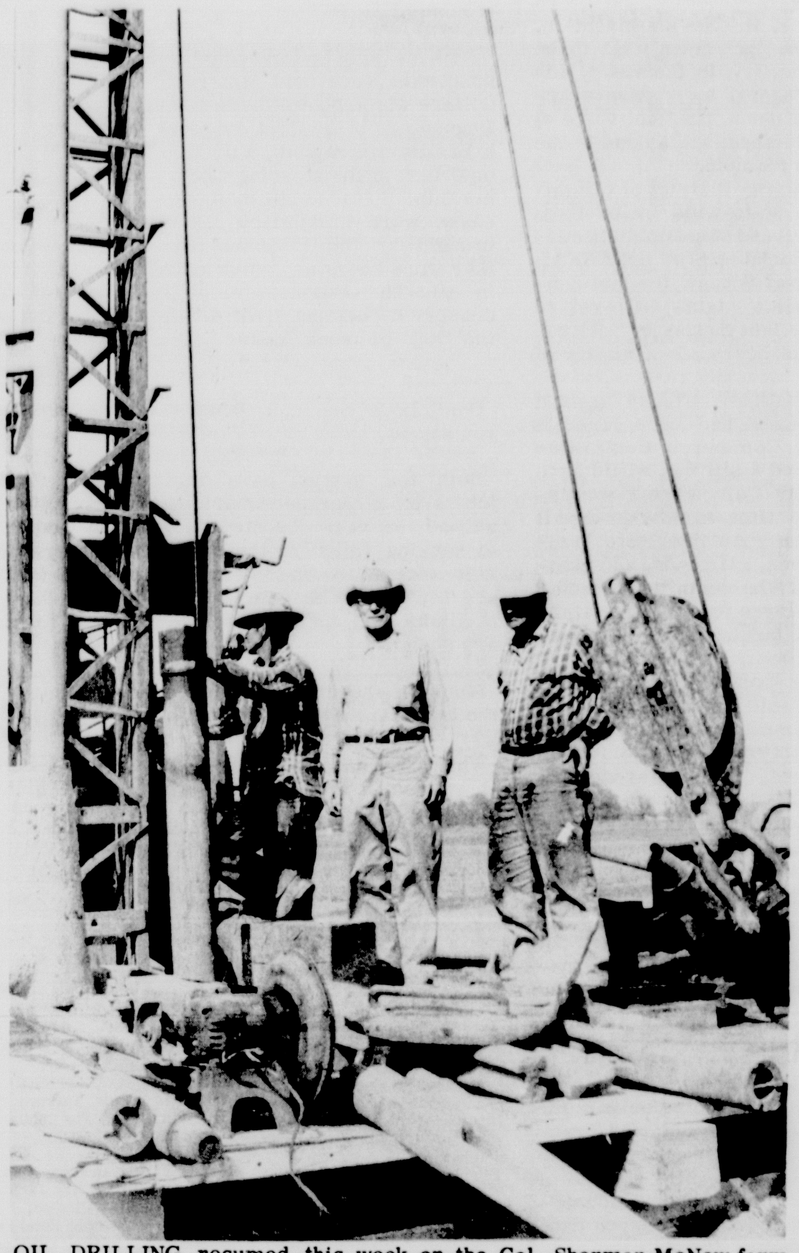
Bill Burch, general chairman, said that the show should draw enough persons to make the Armory rather crowded, with the exhibits showing everything from safety pins to automobiles, banking facilities, musical instruments, TV sets, radios, you name it, if it is not there, there will be something else just as unique.

Outside on the Armory grounds will be the many pieces of larger farm equipment; boats; autos and other items too large to be displayed on the inside.

For those who have been fortunate enough to have taken in previous Jaycee Home Shows, it will be a renewal of old acquaintances, for many of the exhibitors are multi-time repeaters, but of course again this time they have the newest in merchandise to display. In addition, there will be quite a number of new exhibitors who are making their first appearance in the local show.

So bear in mind, with such a variety of things to view, you better come early with the intentions of staying late. There will be things for the old, middle aged, and of course, the youngsters will have more than enough to look at.

Once more it should be mentioned that there are to be several attendance prizes given away again this year as in previous years. And they are just as nice too. You can, if you are one of the fortunate ones, receive anything from a living room chair to a fishing tackle assortment.



OIL DRILLING resumed this week on the Col. Sherman McNew farm, northeast of Blodgett. StalagReunion

DAYTON, Ohio AP--A group of Americans, British and Germans met again today minus the bond which held them together 20 years ago--Nazi barbed wire.

More than 500 former allied airmen, prisoners of the Germans in tough Stalag Luft III after they were shot down over Europe, welcomed their exCaptors at an unusual reunion here to celebrate the 20th anniversary of their release.

The purpose was two days of camaraderie, story telling and, partly, to thank some of the German officers who ran the prisoner of war camp.

"We cannot help but give the German Luftwaffe credit for the fairly good treatment we received," said retired Maj. Gen. Delmar T. Spivey, now a military school commandant.

Former American POW's said many of them owe their lives to the Germans.

But 50 were shot to death in "the great escape," the flight to freedom through a massive tunnel recounted in a motion picture of the same name.

Twenty-three others were sent back behind the barbed wire.

One of three to make it to England, Dr. Bram Vanderstock, is among the guests here.

So also is Royal Air Force hero, former group Capt. H. M. Day, who directed countless escape attempts for the 10,000 airmen held by the Nazis at Sagan, Germany.

Four Germans who held key prison posts are also on hand, including Herman Glemwitz, the chief of security.

Cincinnati steel executive David Pollak recalled him as a "very tough, but fair and respected man."

The roster of ex-POW's attending is sprinkled with big names from business, the military and the government.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, due later today, is a Stalag III alumus.

One of the most popular figures of the prison camp and, at the reunion is Murdo E. MacDonald, now a professor of philosophy at the University of Glasgow.

MacDonald, a paratrooper before he was captured, served as chaplain for hundreds of airmen.

"It was quite a sight to see a thousand men running pell-mell for 600 seats at Padre Mac's services." said one ex-POW.

Mendoza Tells Diners How Castro Took Cuba

Dr. Nicholas de Mendoza told the Bootheel Dinner Club of over 200 guests gathered at the Holiday Inn last night how Fidel Castro was able to take over Cuba.

"He used three directives, to make it a crime punishable by death for Cubans to bear firearms; the urban reform law which suppressed rent, mortgage and insurance. In suppressing the mortgages, it gave the Cuban government power to seize all land."

It was the last dinner meeting of the season, according to President Alex Klein. A board of directors meeting is to be held next Thursday, to elect new officers, and form a new program for next year. All of the more than 300 members will be allowed to vote for new officers, and renewal annual membership at $10 each.

The two floral displays were awarded to Dr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson, Sikeston, and Mrs. Inez Sapp, Dexter.

In opening his remarks Dr. Mendoza stated, "It is a real privilege for me to come to Sikeston, as I have come through your city on numerous occasions since coming to St. Louis and marrying a St. Louis girl. If I had my choice to live in a single city it would be in Sikeston."

"Millions of people wonder how Fidel Castro can speak for five hours at a stretch. After coming to power in 1959, 95 per cent of the people believed him to be a savior of the people. He assured the people constitutional power and free elections would return, but they soon learned that they were sold down the river.

"It is unfortunate that the United States enacted a secret law in Washington forbidding anyone to talk against Cuba. They believe it is better to take care of troubles farther away, such as South Viet Nam. The greater number of people in Cuba feel they were born in the wrong place, as they fear the United States have abandoned the Monroe Doctrine.

"This island is 730 miles long and would stretch from Sikeston to Baltimore with seven million people, or one person for every four acres. At one time before Castro, Communism was the farthest thing from Cuba, but now it has become a satellite of Russia and completely controlled by her. Cuba never was impoverished, as it had the highest living standard, the third lowest illiteracy rate in the lower hemisphere, and always able to raise food.

"Castro delivered Cuba to Russia in a masterful way, with an insurrection in Columbia, and came out of it without any blame. He tried it again in Guatemala, but the C. I. A. put an end to the insurrection. It was the Monroe Doctrine who for 140 years guaranteed the safety of the hemisphere. Before 1823 the Spaniards controlled much in the Caribbean and Russia had Alaska. The Spanish - American War made the United States a world power and kept foreign intervention out, until the Glad Amendment was added which did away with most foreign intervention.

"My criticism of any kind is not against this country's constitution, but on the contrary, I love this country more than anything in the world, and your forefathers fought for this freedom and did not allow the countries they won their freedom from to intervene in their government. Within three months I will receive my American citizenship, and will be proud of it. I am telling you the story of what is happening today with our foreign policy.

"You cannot buy friendship with money. Today the foreign countries insult us and we are the laughing stock, as the more we give the less respect they have for us. We seem to think that it is old fashioned to be firm, but the Monroe Doctrine kept peace in the southern hemisphere for almost 150 years.

"Although I was born in Cuba, I was graduated from American schools. My wife is an American and so are my children. My wife and two of the three children had no difficulty in leaving Cuba, but my seven-year old son did. As I owned large holdings there I too was able to leave but forced to hand everything over to the government.

"My only criticism of America is because I believe in family discipline, and that is what this country was founded on. I love America and don't want it to fall because it would be just like Cuba. Castro used three methods to come to power. Restricting the use of firearms to anyone except those in the government forces; the urban reform law that took all property away and placed it in the hands of the government. There was no rent to pay, but you were only allowed to live in one place at all times, and always under surveillance; no insurance or mortgage, because all property was confiscated. Canada was the only foreign power allowed to do business and acted as agents in supplying goods.

"The Glad Amendment caused the Cubans to lose respect for America, and did away with the respected Monroe Doctrine they always cherished. How can Cuba get rid of Castro? Since it is under Communism, it makes no difference, whether he is there or not, as they control all arms. The day I can see that children will not fight at home, then will I see a nation that will not fight. First we should cleanse our own basement by taking Castro out of this system.

"I have spoken in over 300 cities, and keep repeating, 'don't give something for nothing, because countries will think just that, you are nothing. You need not fear that Russia will bury us, but the day that our freedom falls, will be the day they will enslave the United States. They need America to supply food and material to a Communist dominated world."

Senate Committee Completes Hearings On Education

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The Senate Appropriations Committee completed hearings on toughest of the House-passed money bills Thursday night, but planned to resume consideration of less worrisome measures Monday.

The Senate itself does not return to work from an Easter vacation until Tuesday.

In a hard four days of sessions that lasted from 8 a.m. until near midnight each day, the committee finally completed hearings on the most controversial budgets - higher education and mental health.

The windup came on mental health.

Superintendents of the state hospitals blamed the low morale of their staffs on low salaries. As other agency or institutional heads have said for years: we have got to have the money if we are to do the job the legislature expects of us.

Low salaries, plus overcrowding of patients and poor working conditions, have caused the primary problem at the hospitals, they told the committee. That problem is high employe turnover, running up to 30 per cent at some institutions.

After the committee completes hearings on other bills, executive sessions will be held to make changes the committee members approve.

Appropriation bills in Missouri usually have to go into committees for final compromises of House-Senate differences before the session ends June 30.

AN AGREEMENT ON TIME

The Senate Commerce Committee starts discussion on Monday (April 26) on what to do about the annual confusion over Daylight Saving Time.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME is popular with factory and office workers, golfers and fishermen, city merchants, and businessmen. It is suffered by railroad schedule makers, and television programmers. It is opposed by outdoor movie operators, bowling alley proprietors, and tavern keepers. It is anathema, the Devil's invention, to farmers, who insist that cows want to be milked on "God's Time." With the steady advance of state and federal legislative reapportionment, the once strident political voice of the farmer slowly diminishes, and an end to the time confusion appears feasible.

As it is, 31 states and the District of Columbia have DST, either state-wide or by local option. But only 15 start and stop simultaneously. That means that clocks will be put AHEAD in only 15 states on next Sunday, the last Sunday in April. The same states will retard clocks one hour on the last Sunday in October. In 16 states DST, like booze, is a matter of local option.

AN EXTREMELY MODEST START toward bringing order into chaos has been made in Congress. The Senate Commerce Committee early last year approved a bill that would have authorized the Interstate Commerce Commission to impose uniform time standards on all federal agencies and on such interstate businesses as airlines, buses, railroads, and communications companies. The committee rejected stronger legislation to force federal time standards on all states for business and civil purposes.

The House Commerce Committee last August approved by a 9 to 8 vote a compromise bill that would set a uniform period for DST but would allow many exceptions. For one reason or another both measures, criticized as too permissive, failed to reach the floor.

Identical bills have been offered in both houses this year. The Senate Commerce Committee on Monday begins discussion on a bill by Sen. Norris Cotton (R N. H.) and Gale W. McGee (D Wyo.)

THE COST and work imposed by DST is not generally realized. Western Union, "the nation's timekeeper," once estimated that it had to adjust 40,000 clocks in tens of hundreds of cities.

Add to this hubbub the general inability to agree not only on whether to have it at all but also on when to have it, and confusion is compounded mightily. Some years ago the Transportation Association of America cited the case of a bus operating over a 35-mile stretch of highway between Steubenville, Ohio, and Moundsville, W. Va., which passed through seven time zones. A drummer traveling through the Old Dominion of Virginia can get the Joe Blakes just from time changes.

Because federal law still requires railroads to operate on standard time, many of them must publish two kinds of time-tables, one based on standard time for the use of employees and the other reporting passenger train schedules on local time (fast and standard) for the convenience of the traveling public. Railroad labor would welcome uniformity. The union leaders also think they might improve their benefits if needless and costly time-table changes were eliminated.

Fast or slow, God's or man's, Americans before too long may at least agree on the time of day.

Is death the worst that can happen to a driver involved in an accident? Is this the aspect of motor vehicle accidents that most frightens him, and makes him pay the most attention to safety slogans and warnings?

Maybe not, according to a study that was conducted by the Pure Oil Company and the American Trucking Associations. In a booklet titled, "What Motorists Really Think About Traffic Safety!", it's suggested that many drivers may fear life-long disability, inability to earn money, permanent injury and crippling even more than sudden death.

Perhaps the fear of crippling a wife, child or other loved ones would make a deeper impression on drivers, in comparison to the fear of death.

While there were 40,900 motor vehicle deaths in 1962, there were 1,500,000 accidents that disabled the driver or passengers for more than one day.

The Pure-ATA study suggests that emphasis on this side of the accident problem - rather than on fatalities alone -- might be effective, but is almost entirely overlooked in safety slogans and campaigns.

The study notes that most drivers are unimpressed by the usual range of safety slogans and signs that are designed to scare them. At least partly this is because the average driver considers himself to be a "good driver" and the slogans, therefore, don't really apply to him.

Another factor in this lack of effectiveness is that many slogans and scare-warnings just scare the driver - but don't tell him what to do, or how to drive better.

Perhaps more attention to the disabling, crippling accident aspects of automobile safety, and more advice on good driving and precautions rather than on "scare," would help to slow down both accident and fatality rates.

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "Perhaps most of our industrial strife stems from the strange notion that profits are automatic and that the big thing is to put in the working hours rather than pay attention to what is actually produced. One often runs into this attitude when hiring the young people, especially. Our Schools are apparently falling down when it comes to the inculcation of proper work attitudes. And indifference to the same thing in the homes is adding to our disciplinary troubles."

Legend has it the first doughnut was invented by a Yankee sea captain, who jammed a fried cake onto one of the steering wheel spoke handles of his ship. Prior to this momentous occasion fried cakes were a delicacy made from a recipe brought by the Pilgrims from Holland where they were known as "oelykoecks," or cakes fried in oil. The Pilgrims embellished the simple dessert by placing first a raisin, then a nut on the top of each cake - thus "dough-nut."

NEW YORK (AP) — How is your garden of memories?

If you're like most people, you find it a pleasant place to take a mental stroll —and walk there more often as you grow older, for it is full of timeless flowers.

And you've got a pretty good-size memory garden if you can look back and remember when—

Summer wasn't official until you had gotten a stomachache from eating green apples picked in a daring night raid on a neighbor's tree.

Only rich families could afford a backyard swimming pool. A girl who appeared at a public beach in a suit that showed her dimpled knees could be arrested.

THE FEDERAL BLITZ AGAIN

The nation has been alerted by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce to the latest bid of the Washington bureaucrats and the National Education Association (the "Teachers' Union") for Federal control of the public schools.

Despite the fact that there is less need for Federal aid in this area than at any time since the end of WW II, the Council warns that the champions of Federal takeover, intoxicated with the gaudy plans for the "Great Society" have come up with a new gimmick called "poverty-impact funds" and that the House will soon vote on this $1.3 billion-a-year education control bill.

Analysis of the bill by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research for the Council, reveals that 95 percent of the nation's 3130 counties (including most of the wealthiest) would be eligible for this educational handout. Denied funds would be only 171 counties, mostly rural and mountain areas.

"Of the 4.9 million school-age children from improverish families (less than $2,000 income), " says Mr. Rinta's report, "1.5 million are in 770 counties where the children of improverish families represent less than 10 percent of all school-age children, and in numerous counties, less than 5 percent.

"Thirty-nine percent of the poverty-impact funds would go to counties with only 31 percent of the nation's impoverished children and each of which has less than the national average proportion of poor children."

Mr. Rinta noted further that the nation's ten wealthiest counties (with only two to four percent of their children in the poverty bracket) would receive $8.9 million in 1966 - as compared with $4.5 million for ten poor counties with 35 to 54 percent of their children from impoverished families. The numbers of youngsters in the two groups, he said, are almost identical.

Mr. Rinta went on to note from data of the US Office of Education and the NEA that the problems of the past decade with its school-age "population explosion" were far greater than those of the decade ahead. "During the 1954-64 decade, public school enrollements rose 12.9 million or 43 percent," he said. "In comparison, the projected increases in the next decade are 6.1 million or 15 percent."

YET, he emphasized, THE CHALLENGE OF THE LAST DECADE WAS MET BY THE STATES AND LOCAL COMMUNITIES - AND THE CLASSROOM AND TEACHER-PUPIL RATIOS WERE IMPROVED AT THE SAME TIME!

There is clearly less need today for Federal aid to education than might have been argued for many years past. But the eagerness of the Federal fatcats to "help" is greater than ever. And the need to keep saying "NO" was never more pressing.

DRESS TIPS: When selecting a hat, the slender man should pick a narrow brim and tapered crown; a heavy man, a wider brim and full crown. The sharply-rolled and sharp-snapped brim is best for the slender, young man; the flat set brim is better looking for the full face. The tall man should have a wider brim than the short man. And the thin face requires a crown with lots of taper, while the full face requires a full crown (with no front dents).

H. L. Hunt Says

A STEP TOWARD PEACE?

If we pull out of South Viet Nam by agreement demands for disarmament will be revived. To many, disarmament is a self - evident virtue, an absolutely good thing. They naively assume disarmament equals peace. This century's history indicates clearly disarmament is the road to war.

Many will forget or disbelieve that a bill passed the Senate September 8, 1961, the House September 19, 1961, and President Kennedy signed it into Public Law 87-297 September 26, 1961. It authorized the President to proceed with disarmament, subject only to consent of the Senate. The Senate could be servile or a simple majority of 2 or 3 present could conceivably ratify.

Powerful forces exert tremendous pressure to disarm as a "step toward peace." Complete disarmament was first proposed by Khrushchev at the UN in September, 1959, 2 years before Congress authorized the President to disarm this nation.

A second form of disarmament is arms limitation and control by treaty agreements among nations. This is a boon to the "ban the bomb"-ers. It proposes formal agreements among the "powers" limiting the weapons they have, giving weapons to "controllers" to "punish aggressors." An example of the second form is the 1963 Nuclear Test - Ban Treaty. Disarmament agreement was tried following World War I. Major free nations complied; Germany and Japan did not. We paid a terrible price for a lesson we should not so soon forget.

"Unilateral Disarmament" is a third form: a nation disarms itself innocently hoping others follow suit. This is pacifism. With conquerors active like China, Russia, Cuba, it is also national suicide.

Disarmament removes the shields protecting free, peace-loving people. Disarmament builds nothing. It will tear down everything freedom - loving people have built. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

President Set to Keep Party's Pledges to Union Chiefs; Soon Will Ask Congress to Change Nation's Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, D.C.—President Johnson has decided the moment has come to attempt to change some of the basic labor laws of the land.

Since the President is a devotee of the theory that "politics is the art of the possible," he believes he'll win his fight in Congress, or he would not have picked the next few weeks for the time in which to keep his pledges to the nation's union chiefs.

Finishing touches are being put on the presidential labor message to Congress —where it will raise a sonar boom from a well prepared troop of Congressmen marshaled by Sen. McClellan.

Insiders say that the President's strategy is to send the "package" up the Hill during the week of May 3. This is no random date.

That Monday morning more than 5,000 union officials will open the biggest labor gathering of officers in history. These men will be delegates to the 10th National Legislative Conference of the Building and Construction Trades unions located from coast to coast.

They'll speak for over 3 million AFL-CIO members. And not only do they know how to speak, but how to fan out, lobby, buttonhole, pound desks, argue and cajole representatives and senators from their home districts. On May 4 the 5,000 delegates will do just that.

They'll be all over the Hill, the House and Senate office buildings, the dining rooms and private congressional offices.

What more strategic moment can the President pick for his labor message?

The President believes such a message must be sent because the Democratic Party platform commits him. To what?

To at least four major bills which can change the country's collective bargaining face.

No labor leader doubts that the President will ask bluntly for the repeal of the states' power to pass laws allowing workers to keep their jobs without joining unions.

To keep this power from the states the President will ask for repeal of the now famous clause 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Immediately it is repealed, labor can bargain for such union shop contracts, which are now prohibited in 19 states.

Another part of the presidential package is something with which the public is not familiar. The President is expected to ask for a second repealer — this time for that section of the Taft-Hartley Act which bans "situs picketing."

This could affect billions of dollars worth of construction of skyscrapers, dams, shopping centers and missile sites.

The phrase "situs picketing" means the picketing of a single project being constructed by many contractors. Thus 20 construction firms could be involved on the same huge site.

Some of these contractors would be using union help. Some would not. So, there could be 40 or 50 different unions involved — and some non-union workers as well.

Naturally, the labor leaders would want to unionize the entire project. They could do this easily by throwing pickets around the non-union employer, just as they might string pickets in front of a factory.

But on a common site all the workers would stop even though they were employed by companies not involved in the dispute. Such common situs picketing was legal for a long time.

Then came the law forbidding such picketing of one employer if it affected the work on a common project. The ban was upheld by the Supreme Court a decade ago.

Since then the powerful building and construction trades have sought repeal of the law so they could picket such projects.

The President has pledged his support for both repealers.

Such support is expected to be frankly expressed in his message. There will be a long conflict in Congress.

The labor forces and the opposition know that repeal will open the nation's new frontiers to far-flung unionizing drives, which could add millions of members to the movement.

This will be the noisiest, toughest battle the Hill has seen in many a year.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Alabama congressman William Dickinson, a Republican, who made the lurid charges on the House floor about sex and seduction among the civil rights marchers, is planning a repeat performance.

To make sure he gets a big audience, he has written privately to his House colleagues inviting them to the show.

"On March 30th I made a speech on the Floor entitled 'March on Montgomery — The Untold Story,' " he wrote. "To say the least, this has created much comment. There are some who have questioned the accuracy of my facts and, indeed, the truth of my remarks."

Dickinson will answer his critics in another House speech on April 27.

"On that date," he writes, "I plan to offer to the House what I believe will be considered adequate proof and ask for appropriate action of this House.

"I invite the presence of all interested members. I cannot promise you will like what I say, but I do promise you will not be bored."

Note: The march on Montgomery not only was led by many of the nation's most distinguished ministers, but trained observers from newspapers all over the world failed to see evidence of the debauchery Dickinson has described.

—LANDRUM-GRIFFIN EFFECT—

There is more than meets the eye behind the threatened steel strike. It's a restlessness taking place in some of the big labor unions which Jimmy Hoffa of the Teamsters, no slouch as a union authority, attributes to the Landrum-Griffin Act.

"You fellows passed the act," says Hoffa, "now both you and labor have got to live with it. And it requires elections for union officers.

"When you have elections, the boys in the locals are going to vote for the man who gets them what they want. And what they want are wage increases.

"Some presidents who spend their time sitting around with business leaders in the board rooms or lunching at the White House aren't going to get re-elected. When Congress passed the Landrum-Griffin Act requiring union elections, it forgot that the chief goal of the American people — including labor — is to get more for less."

Shortly after Hoffa made this diagnosis, two big union elections voted against two famous labor leaders —Dave McDonald of the Steelworkers and Jim Carey of the United Electrical Workers.

McDonald had established one of the most progressive systems of adjusting wage and working conditions in labor history. Problems have been solved by labor-industry committees as they arose. There has been no steel strike for six years. But to do this, Dave mingled with steel executives, got out of touch with his men.

So some local presidents deserted McDonald to join challenger I. S. Abel. And in the unionwide election Dave came out the loser. The margin is close and the election is still being contested, but the net effect is that both McDonald and Abel have to be tough bargainers. Each is determined to outbargain the other, which means more chance of a strike, more chance that the national economy will suffer.

Note — Because of the Steelworkers' election battle, best solution for the wage dispute is a one-year temporary contract at around 12½-cent wage increase. Secretary of Commerce John Connor, who once served on the business advisory council with U. S. Steel chairman Roger Blough, is the man who could probably engineer this.

—EXIT JIM CAREY—

Jim Carey, like McDonald, trained under an enlightened labor leader, Phil Murray. And, like Murray, Carey worked not only for labor but for the nation.

He battled the once Communist-dominated United Electrical Workers. He took on the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan, and the White Citizens Councils when the latter two tried to infiltrate his union. He helped rebuild the Clinton, Tenn., schoolhouse and the Birmingham Baptist Church, both blown up by bombs of bigotry.

When Nikita Khrushchev came to the United States, Jim Carey was among his most vigorous, though courteous, opponents in debating the merits of capitalism and Communism.

Most important of all, from the viewpoint of trade unionism, Carey won a four-year battle with the giant General Electric Corporation over such unfair labor practices as negotiation by ultimatum, sometimes called "boulwarism."

Just at the height of the praise emanating from this decision by the National Labor Relations Board, Carey lost his race for re-election. The GE decision affected every working man in the country. It was a victory not only for Carey but for every member of the AFL-CIO.

Despite this, the Electrical Workers voted to throw Carey out. Instead they elected Paul Jennings, an able and conscientious union leader but without Carey's record for fighting national battles for his fellowmen.

While working on national problems, Carey had made the significant mistake of increasing union dues. He also changed the check-off system so that companies sent their dues direct to union headquarters in Washington, not to the locals. Thus local leaders could not sweeten the local treasuries before sending the money to Washington.

These are some of the factors behind the steel wage talks and other bargaining negotiations around the country. The Landrum-Griffin Act cuts two ways.

—FOOD PRICES AND CHAIN STORES—

WASHINGTON — One of the ironies of today's market basket, now being studied by the President's national commission on food marketing at hearings in Fort Worth, Texas, is the amazing disparity between what the farmer receives and what the housewife pays for the food she puts on the table.

One of the dangers is that this could lead to further mergers in our economy. At Fort Worth you hear such terms as "backward integration," that is, the ownership of packing houses by big chain stores. This has helped to force down the farm price of beef on the hoof and has some beef producers on the verge of bankruptcy.

You also hear the term "forward integration." This is the opposite technique being contemplated by some farm groups, such as the Ohio Farm Bureau and the Farmers Union, which have considered taking over food chains to market their own products — as a means of self-protection.

Of six major food items studied by the Department of Agriculture, all have risen considerably in retail price since 1947, while the price the farmer gets for the same items, in an unprocessed state, has dropped considerably. Only three products — pork, milk and eggs — have varied from this trend.

Retail cuts of pork have dropped 11.2 per cent, to the housewife, since 1947, while the farmer also has received less for pork, by 37.9 per cent. A bottle of milk costs 27.5 per cent more at retail while the dairy farmer gets 0.9 per cent more. Eggs are down 26.7 per cent to the housewife, down 36.3 per cent to the farmer.

Here is the topsy-turvy history (since 1947) of the other food items studied by the department: choice lamb roast, up 24.4 per cent to consumer, down 16.5 per cent to farmer; choice beef, up 26 per cent to consumer, down 13.8 per cent to farmer; white bread, up 63.6 per cent to consumer, down 26.2 per cent to farmer; corn flakes, up 67.1 per cent to consumer, down 41.9 per cent to farmer; potatoes, up 28.9 per cent to consumer, down 44.7 per cent to farmer; salad dressing, up 5.2 per cent to consumer, down 43.1 per cent to farmer.

The Modern Christian

Why Do Catholic Christians Pray A Different "Lord's Prayer" Than Protestant Christians?

Our Father who art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come,
Thy will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
And forgive us our debts,
As we also have forgiven our debtors;
And lead us not into temptation,
But deliver us from evil.

I presume that you are speaking of, "For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen." This is a beautiful ending to the Lord's Prayer, and I personally wish that western cultured Catholics would use it.

Thosands of Catholic school children in the United States are now learning that phrase. Its origin is very ancient and has been used for centuries by Greek and Slavic Catholics, as well as by Byzantine Catholics.

It is still used by millions of Catholics who are the same kind of Catholics as you meet on the streets of Sikeston, and at one time this phrase was found in various Catholic editions of the Bible.

However, due to biblical scholars' study of the ancient manuscripts of the Bible, it has been omitted from new edtions, because it is not found in the early ancient manuscripts. Most Protestant and Catholic scholars agreed that the early Greek manuscripts give no evidence of this prayerful ending.

The version of the Lord's Prayer as printed above was taken from the Revised Standard Version Bible (Protestant Edition), published in 1946, and it omits the ending. However, a footnote at the bottom of the page reads: "Other authorities, some ancient, add, in some form, For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen." The Goodspeed Bible, first published in 1939, leaves off the ending, as does the New English Bible, published in 1961 by the Oxford and Cambridge University Press.

If you like the traditional and popular ending, then pray or sing it with all your heart and faith. It is deeply unfortunate that the ending of a prayer should have become a wedge of division among praying Christians. And as I have often done in the past, and will do in the future, pray and sing, "For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever, Amen."

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We have five shoe-tearing, milk-drinking children who keep us busy and broke. We buy a gallon of milk every day, which is just about right for our family.

I have a relative who comes by the house about three times a week. She is a widow and was close to my mother, so I feel an obligation to be kind to her. Aunt Nellie has a Persian cat whose name is Francesca. Wherever Aunt Nellie goes, Francesca goes, too.

The first thing Aunt Nellie does when she comes to our house is go to the refrigerator and pour half a quart of milk into a bowl for Francesca. Usually the cat drinks about one-third of the milk and leaves the rest. It kills me to pour milk down the drain when my own kids could be drinking it.

Yesterday Francesca put her nose in the milk, turned away and left all of it. Aunt Nellie said, "The milk is probably sour. Puss is very fussy."

I am still boiling. Any suggestions? — THE CAT'S MEOW

Dear Me-ow: When Aunt Nellie comes to call, beat her to the refrigerator. Pour a small quantity of milk into a bowl — about 1-3 of what she pours. This should satisfy both Aunt Nellie and Francesca. It should also reduce your irritation.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a mother trying to raise four children to be decent, self-respecting citizens. The boys are in their early teens. The girls are 10 and 12 years of age.

What can be done about sexy commercials? Where will it all end? Do personal garments such as girdles and brassieres belong on TV? And what about some of those tasteless commercials for medicine?

The commercial for a tension-reducing pill shows a woman in bed wearing a lace nightgown and a transparent negligee.

A girl who does a beer commerical wears a sweater that plunges to her navel. Another girl who advertises a shampoo bends over backwards so the camera can get an unusual angle of her lustrous hair. She doesn't have anything on under her blouse. Is this necessary?

Must we allow this trash to invade our homes? There is much good material on TV and I'd hate to throw out the set altogether. What can be done? —IRATE MOTHER

Dear Irate: Put another piece of paper in your typewriter and write to the sponsors. Let them know you find the advertising offensive and that you will boycott their product until they clean up the commercials. Money not only talks -- it hollers.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy almost 18 and a very good driver. Dad lets me have his car one night a week. We had an agreement that if anything happened to the car while I was driving it I'd have to pay for the repairs, which our insurance policy doesn't cover. (We have $50 deductible.)

Last Friday night a nutty woman driver stopped short right in front of me and I jammed into the rear of her car. There was no way I could have avoided hitting her. Our grill was bent out of shape and a headlight was smashed. The repair bill will be $90. This means I have to come up with $50 out of my own pocket. Is this fair? —JUST PLAIN MAD

Dear J. P. Mad: Yup, it's fair. Anyone who drives a car should be on the look-out for nutty drivers ahead of him, behind him and on either side of him.

What happened was unfortunate, but if you were not tailgating you would not have rammed the car ahead. Consider yourself lucky it wasn't worse, Son.

Rev. Fugett To Be Speaker

The First Church of the Nazarene, Scott and Trotter Streets in Sikeston will be having evangelistic services April 27 through May 2 with services beginning each evening at 7 p.m.

The speaker for these evangelistic services will be Rev. C. B. Fugett. Rev. Fugett, of Ashland, Kentucky has preached the gospel of full salvation literally around the world. He has held evangelistic services in every state of the nation, preached in large camp meetings from coast to coast, and held revivals in several foreign countries.

With messages based completely on the Scriptures, interesting and dynamic in style of presentation, Mr. Fugett has been one of the most active modern-day evangelists. He is friendly, personable, and forceful in his presentation of gospel truth.

While he has been in demand as speaker at many of the larger holiness camp meetings and conventions in the nation, he has not neglected calls to smaller churches.

Thousands have sought Christ at altars in Mr. Fugett's meetings. At one union campaign in Nashville, more than two thousand persons responded.

Although in his early life Mr. Fugett never had the opportunity to learn of God and his saving power, his conversion and call to the ministry is a miraculous work of God. You will be challenged and thrilled with his dynamic Bible preaching.

LOVELY SOLID MAPLE . . .
YORKTOWN

This is "Yorktown" by Flanders — Solid Maple Early American furniture so authentic you can almost sense the historic tradition of Colonial America, the moment you see it.
Here is rich, warm maple — as delicately beautiful as a New England sunset — yet as sturdy and enduring as a rocky Vermont hillside. Here is "Yorktown" by Flanders.
It has been said that "Yorktown" just LOOKS expensive. You will realize this is true when you compare the modest price of this Panel Bed, Double Dresser, Lingerie Chest, and Night Stand—and consider such features as cedar-lined storage drawers; hidden nylon casters; center-guided drawers, reinforced with sturdy oak; and the exclusive Flanders seven-step finishing process, which includes hand wooling and waxing.

Lilbourn Downs New Madrid

Lilbourn's Panthers topped New Madrid yesterday, in the Gideon sub-district tournament 10 to 5.

New Madrid scored 5 runs on 3 hits. Lilbourn pitchers walked 12 men in the contest and Lilbourn committed 4 errors. Lilbourn pitchers struck out 12 New Madrid batters.

New Madrid pitchers struck out 2 Lilbourn hitters, while giving up 3 walks. New Madrid committed 3 errors.

Payne, star pitcher for the Panthers, was lifted in the fourth inning against the Indians. Bodine the short stop came in to pitch for him. Bodine couldn't retire the Indians so they brought in Mitchem to retire the side. Mitchem got shaky in the next inning, so they brought Payne back in to finish up the game.

Baird, Indian third baseman, hit a homer in the third inning with no one on base. Andrews also hit a double for New Madrid in the fifth.

Lilbourn had two extra base hits for the game. Payne slugged a double to left, in the fourth. Mitchem also doubled for the winners.

In the other contest of the afternoon, Campbell stomped Clarkton, 10 to 0. Lilbourn and Clarkton will play in the semi-finals Monday.

Dickenson Takes Wonder Drug, Leads In Tourney

By RONNIE THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Something went awry in Gardner Dickinson's right shoulder as he hit a ball in the practice area minutes before he teed off on the first round of the $50,000 Texas Open. It hurt so much he couldn't swing the club.

So he hurried to the clubhouse and swabbed what he called some "wonder drug" on his shoulder, then went to the first tee.

You'd never have known the shoulder was hurt — he called it a pulled or torn muscle — as he fired a five-under-par 65 to capture the lead Thursday in the Texas Open.

But it was a narrow edge Dickinson carried into today's second round.

He was one stroke ahead of Bert Weaver, the 10th-leading money winner on this year's PGA tour; Tom Aaron, who has never won a tournament but manages to make a good living, and Jacky Cupit, one of the more successful youngsters on the tour.

Jack Rule Jr., Charles Sifford and Kel Nagle were tied with 67s. Steve Opperman, Rocky Thompson and Butch Baird had 68s.

Bobby Nichols, the 1964 PGA champion who won the Houston Classic last week, and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, who finished in a tie for second at Houston one stroke behind Nichols, were among eight knotted at 69.

None of golf's Big Three — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player — is entered.

Dickinson, called golf's Thin Man because of his slight 130-pound build, hasn't won a tournament since the Coral Gables Open in 1962. He turned pro in 1952.

"Without the pain-killer, I absolutely could not have played," Dickinson said after posting his 65.

He explained that he hurt the shoulder when his club jammed into the ground during the third round of the Houston Classic last week, but it seemed to be practically well until Thursday.

Sports TALK
By DON SAVAGE

The Richland sub-district tournament was played again yesterday. There were two games on slate, but only one took place. Some awfully peculiar things have been happening in the tournament. Richland poured it on Oran in their game by the score of 20 to 2. Richland's star shortstop got his ankle broken sliding into third base. At that time Richland was over 12 runs ahead and still hadn't made any substitutions. There were only a couple of innings left to play when all this happened. About the only pitcher Richland has to speak of went the route in that one. He'll have to come back today after only one day's rest to top the Bulldogs. Richland and Sikeston were scheduled to play yesterday, but someone left the water on the field all night, accidentally and it was too wet to play. So here we have nothing but sunshine and heat all week, and we have a game called because of wet grounds.

The Richland Tournament has got to be the most disorganized tournament in the history of state meets. None of the coaches ever know the right times, and everything just seems to be chaos over there. You can ask the time of a game and find out two different times from the same person.

The funny thing about the whole deal is the Richland - Sikeston game and the Bloomfield-Scott Central games both were called because of wet grounds. They re-scheduled the Bloomfield - Scott Central game and played it at Essex. The tournament schedule called for both games to be played on the same day, yet Sikeston was never contacted. Sikeston and Richland are now scheduled to play today.

Both teams will be playing at less than full strength today. Richland's shortstop is out with a broken ankle. Montgomery, Sikeston second baseman, has strep throat and will not see action. Terry James, star outfielder for the Dogs, is also a question mark. James was spiked on the left hand sliding into second, in the game with Matthews.

Saturday is the day of the Northern Division Track and Field Meet here in Sikeston. Many fine athletes will be on hand and many records should fall. We were impressed by the fine sportsmanship shown at the Charleston Tourney. All the teams there were excellent, as far as sportsmanship goes. Sikeston and Charleston have a very deep rilvalry and it's due to tradition between the two schools. We saw a Charleston shotputter tell a Sikeston boy what he was doing wrong in the shot, in turn the Sikeston boy threw his best shot of the day. These teams want to win, but they only want to beat the other team if they are at their best. We can't all be winners, so why not all be good sports?

Bloomfield Nips Scott Central, In Sub-District Play At Richland

Bloomfield's Wildcats swept to a semi-final win yesterday at Richland with a 4 to 1 victory over Scott County Central's Braves.

Scott Central could only manage one hit in the contest. Most of the Braves players had been to the Charleston Track Meet the day before and had not had any hitting practice.

Bloomfield had 7 hits in the game. McAdoo paced the Wildcat attack, blasting out 3 hits. Johnson went the distance for Bloomfield. The Wildcats pitcher allowed only one hit, and one run. Byreans was the losing pitcher for Central.

Bloomfield will play the winner of the Sikeston - Richland contest in the finals Monday.

Drake Relays Begin Today

DES MOINES, Iowa AP -- A mighty weightman, a springy broad jumper and a dismissed track coach elbow for the spotlight in today's opening of the 56th Drake Relays.

Texas A & M's Randy Matson, 260-pound top attraction of the two - day cinder carnival, was expected to launch a bid for a Drake double with a record-smashing discus performance.

Matson will try again for the world's first 68-foot heave in the shot put Saturday.

In the broad jump, New Mexico's Clarence Robinson may shatter the Drake mark of 26-2 in another of today's seven finals.

Robinson also could match Matson as a double winner by taking the triple jump on Saturday's closing program of 20 finals.

Among all the coaches of the 37 university and 47 college squads sending a total of 1,300 athletes into Drake action, the center of conversation was "lame duck" Coach Bill Easton of Kansas.

The 60 - year- old Easton, bringing his 18th Kansas squad to his old stamping grounds, was fined Tuesday after an apparent feud with Athletic Director Wade Stinson.

Easton was Drake track coach and director of the Drake Relays from 1941 through 1947.

Matson has whirled the discus 201-5 1/2, topping the seven-year-old Drake mark by more than 15 feet.

Robinson comes to Drake fresh from a 26-2 1/2 broad jump last week in the Kansas Relays in which he won outstanding athletic laurels.

Charleston, Sikeston Share Top Billing In Conference

The Northern Conference Track and Field Meet returns to Sikeston tomorrow, with morning and afternoon sessions of competition.

The morning session will feature the start of field event competition at 9:30 and running event preliminaries at 9:15.

Cape Central is the defending champion of the meet, but will have to work very hard to retain their crown. Poplar Bluff finished second last year, Charleston third and Sikeston fourth. Charleston and Sikeston have quite a track rivalry this year. Charleston has come out on top of the Bulldogs at Kennett and once at Charleston. Just this Wednesday the Bulldogs topped the Jays by a meager 4 points. All in all it doesn't look like Cape will retain their title unless they come up with some added punch. Sikeston and Charleston should battle it out for the top position.

There should be a lot of Conference records fall when the giants slug it out this Saturday. The meet record for the mile is 4:38.7. East Prairie's Pentigras turned a 4:37.4 at Charleston. Dale Stauffer is also a man capable of breaking that mark. At Charleston Wednesday, Blackman high-jumped a 5'11" and Sikeston's other high jumper, Kiehne, went 5'10", either one of these leaps would top the old record of 5'9 3/4". Whoever finishes first in the 2 mile, and the triple jump will also have meet records, since this is the first season for these two events.

This is the order of events for the meet at 9:30 a.m. Pole Vault, Shot put, Discus, Broad Jump, Triple Jump, high jump.

Track Preliminaries 10:15; 120 Yard high hurdles. 10:30; 100 yard dash. 10:45 180 yard low hurdles. 11:00; 220 yard dash finals.

1:30 - 120yard high hurdles.
1:40 - 100 yard dash.
1:50 - 1 mile run.
2:10 - 880 yard relay.
2:25 - 440 yard dash.
2:40 - 180 yard low hurdles.
2:50 - 2 mile run.
3:05 - 880 yard run.
3:15 - 220 yard dash
3:25 - mile relay
3:35 - Awarding of team trophys.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON
THIS 30th DAY OF March 1965

Commander, Air Division

The mother of Charles Greenwood has good reason to be proud of her son.

Airman Greenwood has distinguished himself by meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial missions as a combat crew member in Southeast Asia from May 24, 1964 to December 31, 1964.

During this time he displayed outstanding airmanship and courage in extremely hazardous conditions, including continuous ground fire from the enemy.

He reflects great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

He was with the 9th Airomedicat squardon and is married and has two small children, Mark and Charles Jr. Currently he is reassigned to Bergstroue Air Force Base in Austin, Tex.

He goes by the nickname of Chuck and received a letter from his counterparts that are still fighting in Southeast Asia. Here is the letter in actual form.

HI Chuck:

I bet getting this so quick is a surprise to you. Everyone here at the squadron said to say hello to you. I hope that you made it home O. K... I should be getting a letter in a couple of days from my wife telling me about your phone call.

We all enjoyed working with you and are happy that you are enjoying yourself with your family. How does the good ol' USA look? Drop us a line when YOU GET TIME. Congratulations on your Air medal--you earned it more than once.

Yours Truly,

Presently Mr. Greenwoods' mother is living with her son, John, at 311 E. Gladys, here in Sikeston.

May I say this Mrs. Greenwood, you should and you do have a right to be the proudest imaginable of your son.

Librarians Of Same Area

Because of their leadership and professional skills, Mrs. Powell, Mr. Koenig, and Mr. Martin, the administrators of the three large public libraries in the area, are now considered pioneers in Missouri Library development. Their libraries are now participating in the first library system in the state of Missouri. The SEMO Federated Library Service System, which was formed with the careful guidance of the librarians and boards of the three libraries and the Missouri State Library began operation January 1, 1965. One purpose of this system is to establish a cooperative system whereby books and other materials may circulate freely to the system libraries for use by responsible patrons. The most important goal is through a cooperative effort all the libraries will achieve the standards for service, book collection and selection, and personnel as outlined in Standards of Library Service: A Guide to its Development.

Mrs. Rowe Powell of Charleston has worked at the Mississippi County Library since 1948 and became administrative librarian in 1952. Mrs. Powell, born in Columbia, Missouri, graduated from the University of Missouri with a major in art and a minor in history. Mrs. Powell has also done graduate work in the field of children's literature and library science. Prior to her position with the county library she taught school for four years.

Rowe Powell, her husband, is employed at the First Security State Bank in Charleston. The Powells have three children. Betty Jane works in Memphis, Ronny is a student at the University of Missouri, and Judy attends Charleston High School.

Mrs. Powell is a member of the Missouri Library Association, American Library Association, and the SEMO Libraries Round Table, having served as president of the latter for three years. Active in many community organizations, she states that she is now active in the Athena Club and the Methodist Church. Known for her many hobbies and skills, Mrs. Powell mentioned art, crafts, antiques, camping, and fishing as her favorite hobbies.

Reading and traveling are Gene Martin's primary interests, and he states, "I would like to do a great deal more of the latter if time and money permitted". Mr. Martin, librarian of Cape Girardeau Public Library also states that he writes both as a hobby and an avocation.

Active in community affairs, he has served as a member of the Citizen's Advisory Committee to the School Board, and as secretary of the Cape Girardeau County Heart Council. Married to the former Marian Bahn, Gene comments that their family consists of two sons, Douglas and Bruce, and one French poodle. The Martin family attends the First Presbyterian Church.

A native of the Cape Girardeau area, Gene Martin graduated from College High and Southeast Missouri State College. After serving in the U. S. Navy, Mr. Martin attended the Graduate School of Library Science, University of Illinois.

Gene Martin has held several library positions which have given him a variety of experiences. His first job was a position in the cataloging department and ready reference service department at Cincinnati Public Library. He has also served as assistant and branch librarian at Jeffersonville Township Public Library Jeffersonville, Indiana, and administrative librarian of the Ozark Regional Library, Ironton, Missouri.

Mr. Martin's significant leadership in Missouri Library Association, as well as in Missouri library development, is pointed out by the fact that during his presidency of the organization and afterward, his chairmanship of the Missouri Library Association Library Development Committee, the very important document, Missouri Library Service, A Guide to its Development was compiled; this document is serving as the cornerstone to all library development in the state at the present time.

Besides his membership in the Missouri Library Association, he is a member of the American Library Association and the Southeast Missouri Librarians Round Table. He is currently serving as chairman of the A. L. A. Membership Committee from Missouri and co-chairman of the Intellectual Freedom Committee of the Missouri Library Association. Because of the outstanding role he has had in Missouri Library Development, Mr. Martin will be one of the guest speakers at the Inter-library Cooperation Meeting at the annual conference of the American Library Association in Detroit this summer.

"The stork did its work good and strong" was the local newspaper's announcement when Mary Kempe, reference librarian at Cape Public Library, arrived as one of a pair of girls at the home in which she still resides. Some 22 years later she graduated with a major in history from Southeast Missouri State College. She states, "Then several years of teaching in the local elementary schools, a saxaphone, and a scholarship made it financially possible for me to enter Peabody Library School." Following graduation, she became librarian at Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia. After nine years in this position, she came to the Cape Girardeau Public Library, where she has been for 21 years. Miss Kempe has contributed much to the library and her community. She is an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

She states that her avocation is housekeeping. Her favorite diversion is television, with a preference for the musical variety program. Miss Kempe states, "My motto, exemplified by the two Biblical sisters whose names I bear, is 'Learn and do'."

Mr. Otto Koenig, librarian of Riverside Regional Library, was born and reared at New Wells, where he attended the parochial and the public schools. In 1927 he was graduated from the College High School and enrolled at the State College in Cape Girardeau. He received his degree in education in 1931, and later an AB in physical science and mathematics. He taught in the rural schools at Farrar, Frohna, Pocahontas, and Altenburg, and later in the high schools at Patton, Sedgewickville, Hillsboro, Ironton, and Annapolis. During World War 11 he was a civilian instructor in radio mechanics in the Army Aircraft Technical Training School at Scott Field.

Living in Ironton during the years 1943-1947, Mr. Koenig operated a Walgreen Agency Drug Store. He helped promote the formation of a county library in Iron County, and served as a charter member of the board of the Ozark Regional Library.

After receiving a degree in library science from Washington University, Mr. Koenig served as head librarian of the New Madrid County Library from 1951 until 1955, when he accepted his present position with the Riverside Regional Library.

Mr. Koenig has a wide range of interests. The library, books, and schools are in first place, but he is also a historian and an authority on local and Missouri history. He has written a short history of the iron industry of Iron County and of the Battle of Pilot Knob. Perhaps his most widely read and circulated historical work is a sketch of the Cherokee Indians' Trail of Tears. Mr. Koenig now lives at Gordonville with his wife and 12-year-old daughter.

Earl Oldham, Assistant Librarian of Riverside Regional Library since 1957, has always had a special interest in education. To him schools and libraries are very important. He is a past president of the Cape Girardeau County School Board, and is now serving as president of the Jackson R-2 School Board.

Mr. Oldham was born near Jackson, and moved to Cape Girardeau at an early age. All of his education, including high school and college, has been in the schools of Cape Girardeau. He served three years during World War 11 with the Seventh Air Force stationed at Bellows Field, Oahee, Hawaii. He married Elizabeth Kinder of Burfordville, and they, with their daughter Vicki, a junior at Jackson High School, now live in Burfordville. He is a member and deacon of Burfordville Baptist Church. Today's Spanish Lesson

By William Archer
Lesson No. 50
Reading time 5 Min.
Study time 5 Min.

You know how to say 'Tengo que' (I have to). We will now show you how to use the verb 'Tener que' (to have to) in the past tense:

Present Tense -- A) I have to eat. B) Tengo que comer. C) TANG-go/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) I had to eat. B) Tuve que comer. C) TOO-vay/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) He has to eat. B) El tiene que comer. C) 1/tea - EN - nay/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) He had to eat. B) El tuvo que comer. C) 1/TOO-vo/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) We have to eat. B) Tenemos que comer. C) ten-NAY-mos/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) We had to eat. B) Tuvimos que comer. C) too-VEE-mos/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) They have to eat. B) Ellos tienen que comer. C) A-yos/tea - EN-en/k/co - MARE

Past tense - A) They had to eat. B) Ellos tuvieron que comer. C) A - yos/too-vee-AIR-ron/k/co - MARE

Every verb infinitive of the Spanish language will bend to these "keys." Let me caution you again to use these new "keys" in the same way that a child does. First, he uses the first person singular: 'I want,' 'I wanted' -- 'I can,' 'I was able to (I could)' -- 'I have to,' 'I had to'. Then he adds the three "keys," 'y usted' (did you); 'y nosotros todos' (did we all); 'y ellos' (did they). In this manner, he is able to use, with the help of the auxiliaries, the other persons.

Now you have the tools to say anything you care to in Spanish. All you need is practice, and to attune your ears to Spanish sound. You are not a finished student in Spanish, but the basic groundwork has been given you -- you are able to think in and express yourself in the language. Should you desire to attack the intricate grammer and conjugations, you are equipped for further study.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we rejoice and praise Thee that Jesus has taken away the sting of death and the victory of the grave. We thank Thee for giving us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. In His name we offer thanksgiving and praise. Amen.

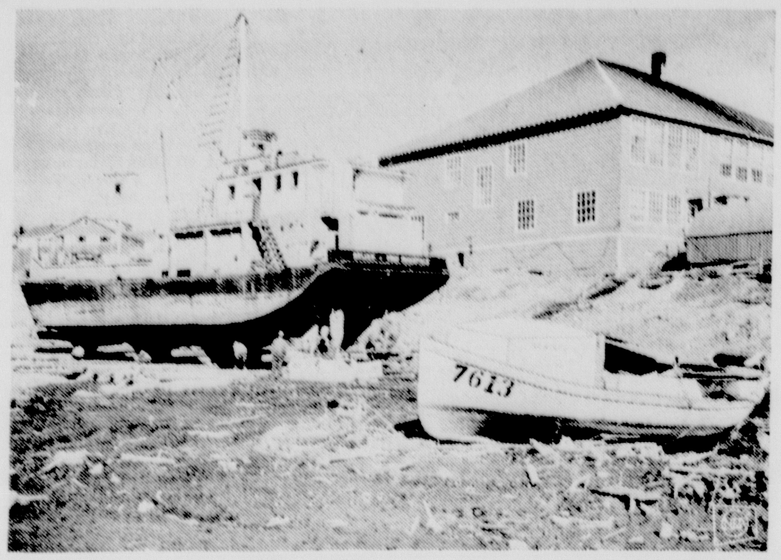
ONE YEAR LATER---
ALASKA REMEMBERS

On Good Friday last year, March 27, catastrophe struck in Alaska. Severe earthquakes and tidal waves wracked coastal towns and cities. Thanks to their own energies and the help of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the scenes of destruction shown in these pictures, taken as the cleaning up started, have largely been erased. Restoration began the very next morning and has continued every day since, despite the scourging of the workers by icy winter winds for the past six months. Just picking up the debris since the night of the 'quake involved 2,000 men working all through April at a cost of about $3,500,000. Rebuilding was preceded by a three-month study of the "crazy clays," the villains in the landslides that tore the heart out of fine residential sections of Anchorage. One result of the soils study is the decision to move the entire town of Valdez, of gold rush fame, to a new, more stable location.



The grounds of the Kodiak public school became a "port" for fishing boats. They were hurled there by 40-foot waves generated by the earthquake.

Mother Earth's convulsions threw some fancy curves into the steel rails of the Alaska Railroad.

Residents of Anchorage, dispossessed by the 'quake, walk past what had been a new six-story building before the quivering earth shook it down.

March Savings Bond Sales Announced

Donald R. Bohannon, Savings Bonds Chairman for Scott County, has today announced the March Savings Bonds sales of $23,381, which brings the first quarter sales to a total of $86,874, or 14.9% of the 1965 quota.

The Chairman said: "The sales clearly show that the residents of our county are continuing to build financial security for themselves and their families through their regular investments in our government's Savings Bonds. The value of Savings Bonds continues to grow month after month, due to the accumulation of interest on these securities.

"They are always worth the original purchase price plus any interest earned at the time of redemption. Such interest is not subject to state tax as in the case of other types of investments."

John L. Wilson, State Chairman of the Missouri Savings Bonds Committee, announced the sales for the state of Missouri during the month of March amounted to $12,664,767, bringing the first three months' total to $37,527,009, or 25.8% of the 1965 goal. "Thus," he said, "the sales of Savings Bonds for the first quarter are slightly above 'the beam'."

'In order to increase the sale of Savings Bonds to more people, the Treasury will conduct an intensified sales campaign to be known as the 'Star-Spangled Savings Promotion' beginning May 1, the 24th anniversary of the Savings Bonds Program," the State Chairman concluded.

The Savings Bonds sales are in the following order: County; E and H; Jan. 1 to Mar. 31; and per cent of quota.

Mississippi $21,987; $44,230; 16.1%
New Madrid $8,981; $16,762; 5.4%
Pemiscot $5,662; $41,455; 11.6%
Scott $23,381; $86,874; 14.9%
Stoddard $6,862; $56,605; 18.4%

SOMETHING OLD
SOMETHING NEW

These—without anything borrowed or blue—can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart — she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

GOD'S PURPOSE THROUGH HIS PEOPLE

The State Reorganization Commission of Missouri

PURCHASING (Con't.))

The 1965 Commission finds that the provisions of these statutes are generally not being followed. The following examples characterize the violations:

(1) No committee as provided for in Section 216.485, RSMo 1959 exists, nor has one been appointed.

(2) On June 1, 1964 only two state institutions had filed abbrevi[illegible] stimates of prison indust[illegible]oduct demands for the coming fiscal year.

(3) Repeated instances of violations (1) and (2) may have precluded a revision of prison industries' descriptive list of articles--the last revision was July 1, 1961.

(4) There is evidence of institutions and agencies purchasing products from commercial vendors at prices higher than those charged by prison industries for comparable merchandise. An investigation of purchase orders issued during November and December for four-drawer legal size filing cabinets revealed such items purchased at the following prices: (a) $105.45, (b) $276.97, and (c) $89.60. During the same period, prison industries sold acceptable four-drawer legal size filing cabinets for $70.00 without a lock, and $75.00 with a lock.

Institutions and/or agencies have claimed they must buy five-drawer filing cabinets from commercial vendors, since prison industries do not manufacture such an item. The director of prison industries indicates willingness to purchase dies for such items, when there is an indicated demand; however, the failure of institutions and agencies in filing their estimated yearly demands have precluded such a modification in the manufacturing equipment. The director estimates modifications enabling the manufacture of five-drawer filing cabinets possible at a one-time cost of approximately $5000. This is a small amount compared to the savings possible, if all five-drawer filing cabinets for future use in state offices were to be purchased from prison industries.

An investigation of prison industries' plant and equipment revealed quantity and quality capabilities satisfactory for state needs. For example: the soap manufacturing facility is operated under the supervision of a registered professional chemical engineer. Equipment is adequate for manufacturing most detergents used by state institutions. The director of prison industries stated a willingness to manufacture detergents that would meet any specifications provided by the user.

The metal forming (cutting, stamping, assembling, and painting) facilities and the woodworking facilities appear adequate for increased production; and versatile enough for a number of fabricating jobs not now demanded of prison industries.

The 1965 Commission recognizes that patronage of prison industries instead of purchase from commercial vendors may involve a careful examination of purchasing policy and state-business philosophy. However, a very large majority of state institutions and agencies have violated the prison industries statutes (Sections 216.510 and 216.515) and made individuals liable to the penalties provided within time periods allowed by Missouri's statute of limitations. It is highly probable that some institutions and agencies will continue violation of these purchasing laws. The 1965 Commission feels that many of these violations are not willful disobedience of the laws, but ignorance of prison industries' capabilities and policies regarding quality control and pricing. These statutes should either be enforced or repealed.

88. Recommendation:

That the last clause of Section 34.070, RSMo 1959, which gives preference to Missouri products and firms when, "quality and price are approximately the same" be changed to read, "when quality is equal and delivered price the same or less."

This 1955 recommendation is repeated. No legislation has been enacted to change the wording of Section 34.070.

The 1965 Commission feels that Missouri firms and their products can compete on equal terms with out-of-state firms. The present wording of the statute allows considerable latitude in interpretation. This latitude may place the Purchasing Agent in a difficult position.

The recommended change will still allow the Purchasing Agent sufficient latitude in making purchases; and it will give him the advantages of a relatively competitive market by recognizing out-of-state vendors.

Samuel Harbin Named To Committee

Samuel Harbin has been named a committee member of Education Committee.

Mr. William Howard Adams, Chairman of the Missouri Council on the Arts, has announced the appointment of special Advisory Committees, in Theater, Music, Visual Arts, and Education. These Committees, composed of experienced citizens, will advise and make recommendations to the Council on programs to enlarge the cultural life of the state and to stimulate and develop the arts for the citizens of Missouri.

In making the announcement, Mr. Adams said that the bill to establish the Council and its program has received strong support from virtually every cultural and educational institution and leader in the state. Governor Warren E. Hearnes included funds for the Council in his proposed budget and urged passage of the bill in his message to the legislature where it was passed by the House and now awaits final action in the Senate. Mr. Adams also said that prompt action by the Legislature had become more important in recent weeks in view of the developments in Congress to provide matching funds for individual state programs. Senator Edward V. Long has been active in helping to shape the Federal legislation, and is a sponsor of one of the important federal bills.

Because of the work of the original Governor's Art Committee, Missouri has achieved a substantial lead in creating a state-wide arts program, along with New York and California. Twenty - four other states now have taken steps to create councils along lines similar to the program outlined for Missouri. A list of the Committees follows.

Just how much does the new homeowners policy cover. My friend says it covers almost all risks of physical loss to a home such as water damage, glass breakage and vandalism. How about replacement value as compared to depreciated value in case of fire? Does it really pay the full replacement value as my friend says?

Magistrate Court

BENTON-- The following CRIMINAL CASES were heard here:

R. T. Troop, ASSAULT. Case dismissed by the state at the cost of the defendant.

Jack Lee Hodges, PERMITTING AN UNAUTHORIZED PERSON TO DRIVE. Defendant enters a plea of "NOT GUILTY" and case is dismissed by the State and costs ordered certified.

Henry Holland, Count I: DRIVING WHILE IN INTOXICATED CONDITION. Count II: OBSTRUCTING TRAFFIC.
Driver's license ordered returned to defendant on condition that he refrain from drinking any intoxicants for a period of one year.

While installing windows on a house near the state highway, I saw the woman next door and her three small children get into the car parked in their driveway. Noticing that the car had a flat tire, I tried to get the woman's attention, but she had already started the engine and was purposefully backing out onto the busy highway. Once on the road, she pulled over to the shoulder and, leaving the children in the car, got out and stood looking helplessly at the flat tire.

Almost at once a motorist stopped and offered his assistance. After he had changed the tire, accepted her thanks and continued on his way, the clear-thinking housewife turned into the driveway again, unloaded the children and went back to her household chores. —H. E. Newland

Today In U. S. History

Today is Friday, April 23, the 113th day of 1965. There are 252 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1896, the first screen-projected movies were shown in New York City through a crude device developed by Thomas Armat. Earlier, Thomas A. Edison had demonstrated his Kinetoscope but Armat's jerky and erratic figures were in motion, a quality not seen before.

On this date

In 1564, poet and dramatist William Shakespeare was born.

In 1791, James Buchanan, the 15th president, was born in Franklin County, Pa.

In 1905, actor Joe Jefferson died.

In 1941, King George of Greece fled to Crete.

Ten years ago- Delegates from 29 Asian-African nations, meeting at Bandung, Indonesia, announced aims of ending colonialism and giving self-determination to all peoples.

Five years ago--French President Charles de Gaulle told a Washington news conference he saw no hope of solving the Berlin and German problems at a summit conference.

One year ago--Fugitive financier Lowell Bierrell returned to the United States from Brazil to face charges of stock fraud and income tax evasion.

The parents of six-year-old David had a few doubts about the somewhat progressive school their son attended. Half humorously they were describing his schedule to friends: "He has orange juice at 9:15, play period from 9:30 to 10 and rest period at 11. How can he be learning anything?"

At this, David, who was playing nearby, interrupted indignantly: "I'm learning a lot! I've learned to read and write. All last fall I only missed one word."

"What word was that, David?"

Bootheel Beat . . .

—By MAX STURM—

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI NEWS SIDELIGHTS, FEATURES AND OBSERVATIONS.

WHETHER OR NOT most of the cities and towns in the Bootheel will wind up on Daylight Saving Time this spring and summer was a subject that was attracting the interest of a growing number of residents of the area this week, with the national official starting time set for Sunday, April 25.

So far, among the cities and towns all set to go on DST are Sikeston, Oran, Cape Girardeau, New Madrid, Dexter, Bloomfield and Caruthersville.

When Caruthersville moved to adopt it, Hayti citizens took a renewed interest in the matter since the two towns are so close together (five miles) and so interelated in all phases of daily living that complications would arise with the two towns one hour apart by the clock. Hayti Mayor L. R. Bain said that while the city board had discussed it, no action had been taken so far. "Just waiting to see what Kennett and Portageville are going to do."

It would appear that if so many Bootheel towns are going on DST, the others might as well adopt it and make it unanimous so all of us will be on an equal time footing -- and keep down confusion. Since there are so many outdoor sports and other recreational activities during the summer months in the region, an extra hour of daylight ought to prove helpful.

I LIKE TO ATTEND groundbreaking ceremonies because they mean that new facilities are to be constructed, and that is a part of progress in the Bootheel.

Last Sunday the Calvary Baptist Church in Hayti, organized several months ago, held it's ground - breaking for a new church building. Turning the first spade of earth were the congregation's oldest and youngest members -- G. W. Coldtharpe, age 74, and Jeanne Thompson, age 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Thompson.

Work on the footing was proceeding this week. The new religious facility will cost some $25,000 and will occupy a site at Second St. and Washington Blvd. formerly occupied by a Christian Church which some years ago disbanded. The old frame building the Christian congregation had used in past years was improved and has been used by the Calvary Baptists since its organization. This building, facing east on Second St., was moved to near the western boundary of the property and turned to face north. It will be used as an educational building by the Baptists on completion of their new building. The pastor is the Rev. Glynn Harwood.

Anyone driving or walking through Hayti during church service periods may be surprised to see the number of automobiles parked in that area of the city. There are now four churches there with only one city block between each of them. Starting on the north side of Highway 84 (Washington Blvd.) there is first the Church of Christ. One block south is the Hayti Methodist Church. One block west on Highway 84 is the Calvary Baptist Church, and one block south of this one is the First Baptist Church. You can hardly tell one congregation's cars from its neighbor's.

BOOTHEEL FARMERS haven't been too easy to get along with during the past several weeks, due to frequent rains delaying their work. In past years when mule power was generally used to do the heavy work, such a situation would have been critical, because considerable time was needed to get the plowing done, and it couldn't be done at night.

With the speedy tractors, however, the farmers are in position to catch up with their field work quite rapidly -- the tractors can run at night as well as in daylight. Thus, while the rains have held up such work in the region so far this spring, it is surprising how much can be done in a few days, once the fields have dried and the weather clears. So, at this stage, no one expects to miss a crop. It is just going to take a little night work here and there to take up the slack.

THE TV VIEWS OF ALL those people in a number of towns and cities along the northern reaches of the Mississippi River doing sandbagging work to hold back the flood waters this week again points up the exceptional value of the great levee system of the St. Francis Levee District which successfully contains the river along the eastern side of the Bootheel.

There are many citizens who will recall when they also put in sandbagging duty along the old Mississippi River levee years ago when the levee wasn't very large. Since then, however, the levee has been rebuilt to much higher and broader standards with the result that we citizens feel quite secure from any ravages of the river, and there is a generation or two growing up here who will never know what it is like to do sandbagging work. It's just as well that they don't. . . .

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW HAYTI CHURCH--The oldest and the youngest members of the Calvary Baptist Church at Hayti combined to turn the first spade of earth in a ground-breaking ceremony to mark the start of the construction of the congregation's new $25,000 building. G. W. Coldtharpe, age 74, and little Jeanne Thompson, age 11, used the spade. Standing behind them are, from left, R. N. Brasher, Quillard Skinner, Lester Bailey, Floyd Shirey, James Cross, Dr. A. G. Shirey, Hurtle Barnes, Starr McDaniel, Edmund Cooper and Harry B. Dowdy, all members of the building committee, deacons and trustees, and the Rev. Glynn Narwood, pastor.--Max Sturm Photo.

SEMO Objects To Pay $3.5 Million For Flood Easements

WASHINGTON AP--Strenuous objection was voiced Thursday by a delegation from Southeastern Missouri to a proposal that local interests by required to pay an estimated $3.5 million for new flood easements in the New Madrid floodway.

A. L. Story of Charleston, Mo., headed the group in testimony before a Senate public works subcommittee. He is president of the St. John's Levee and Drainage District.

Army engineers recently recommended some modification and change in the Mississippi River levee system at the New Madrid floodway. Engineers said that because of the proposed change, they believed new flood easements were needed in the 33-mile long floodway, and recommended local interests provide these easements.

The government now has flowage easements across the floodway, purchased at $21 an acre about 30 years ago. Story questioned the need for new easements now, since exactly the same land is involved.

If new easements are required he said, then local interests should not be required to foot the bill.

The river levee system is designed so that when flood stage reaches about 55 feet the waters overtop a fuse plug section of the levee and flow throught the floodway. This is for the purpose of averting a flood across the river at Cairo, Ill.

Army engineers propose to alter the plan so that the levee in front of the floodway would be raised and be artificially breached whenever the river reaches 58 feet at Cairo. This, they said, would presume that the floodway would be used only once in 80 years, rather than once in 17 years as at present.

Story said the spillway provides no benefit to residents in the area--it benefits only Cairo. He asked that the modifications be approved by the committee without the easement payment requirement.

Fifteen Percent To Be Paid From Fed. Grain Co.

Mr. John Hux, federal receiver for Federal Grain Company, said today that May 3rd he will appear before the U. S. District Court, the Southeast Division, at Cape Girardeau, to see if the court will allow 15% more to be paid to farmers who had grain in the Company at Vanduser.

This 15% will bring the total now paid to the producers to 90% of the original amount due. The payment this time will be from $95,000 to $100,000.

The next step, Mr. Hux said, after this one, will clear the deal up. But this doesn't mean that it will be cleared as to the total finances involved.

The farmers that the Grain Company owed money to took it upon themselves to get their grain out of the grainery. Twenty truck loads of grain, averaging 225 bushels to the truck were taken above the protests of the manager and the urgings of Sheriff John Dennis not to take matters in their own hands.

The Vanduser elevator contained some 70,000 bushels of grain under government loan and federal officials assume some of the grain must have been under government ownership.

A restraining order was put in effect against transferring any assets from any of the Federal Grain Co. Warehouses or removing any grain from elevators.

In event that there is not enough cash to take care of paying off the grain producers in full, then the cash that is available will be divided pro rata.

Before this was done the farmers were very uneasy because of indebtedness to the tune of thousands of dollars. There were threats at the time that bankruptcy suits would be brought against the Grain Company, but upon the advice of other farmers in the same shape and advice from lawyers these suits were never brought into existence.

The company was rumored to have assets at the time of $608,000.00., but this did not include the costs of the lawsuits filed against it, including a mechanic's lien suit filed against it by a Cape Girardeau contractor.

Home Show Opens Fine Exhibit!!!

It's here, yes siree, the seventh annual Jaycee Home, Farm, Auto and Sports show opens its three day stand today at the Armory and you can find the Jaycees busily engaged in wrapping up last minute details and solving the last minute wrinkles.

Bill Burch, general chairman, said that the show should draw enough persons to make the Armory rather crowded, with the exhibits showing everything from safety pins to automobiles, banking facilities, musical instruments, TV sets, radios, you name it, if it is not there, there will be something else just as unique.

Outside on the Armory grounds will be the many pieces of larger farm equipment; boats; autos and other items too large to be displayed on the inside.

For those who have been fortunate enough to have taken in previous Jaycee Home Shows, it will be a renewal of old acquaintances, for many of the exhibitors are multi-time repeaters, but of course again this time they have the newest in merchandise to display. In addition, there will be quite a number of new exhibitors who are making their first appearance in the local show.

So bear in mind, with such a variety of things to view, you better come early with the intentions of staying late. There will be things for the old, middle aged, and of course, the youngsters will have more than enough to look at.

Once more it should be mentioned that there are to be several attendance prizes given away again this year as in previous years. And they are just as nice too. You can, if you are one of the fortunate ones, receive anything from a living room chair to a fishing tackle assortment.

Stalag Reunion

DAYTON, Ohio AP--A group of Americans, British and Germans met again today minus the bond which held them together 20 years ago--Nazi barbed wire.

More than 500 former allied airmen, prisoners of the Germans in tough Stalag Luft III after they were shot down over Europe, welcomed their excaptors at an unusual reunion here to celebrate the 20th anniversary of their release.

The purpose was two days of camaraderie, story telling and, partly, to thank some of the German officers who ran the prisoner of war camp.

"We cannot help but give the German Luftwaffe credit for the fairly good treatment we received," said retired Maj. Gen. Delmar T. Spivey, now a military school commandant.

Former American POW's said many of them owe their lives to the Germans.

But 50 were shot to death in "the great escape," the flight to freedom through a massive tunnel recounted in a motion picture of the same name.

Twenty-three others were sent back behind the barbed wire.

One of three to make it to England, Dr. Bram Vanderstock, is among the guests here.

So also is Royal Air Force hero, former group Capt. H. M. Day, who directed countless escape attempts for the 10,000 airmen held by the Nazis at Sagan, Germany.

Four Germans who held key prison posts are also on hand, including Herman Glemwitz, the chief of security.

Cincinnati steel executive David Pollak recalled him as a "very tough, but fair and respected man."

The roster of ex-POW's attending is sprinkled with big names from business, the military and the government.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, due later today, is a Stalag III alumus.

One of the most popular figures of the prison camp and at the reunion is Murdo E. MacDonald, now a professor of philosophy at the University of Glasgow.

MacDonald, a paratrooper before he was captured, served as chaplain for hundreds of airmen.

"It was quite a sight to see a thousand men running pell-mell for 600 seats at Padre Mac's services." said one ex-POW.

Mendoza Tells Diners How Castro Took Cuba

Dr. Nicholas de Mendoza told the Bootheel Dinner Club of over 200 guests gathered at the Holiday Inn last night how Fidel Castro was able to take over Cuba.

"He used three directives, to make it a crime punishable by death for Cubans to bear firearms; the urban reform law which suppressed rent, mortgage and insurance. In suppressing the mortgages, it gave the Cuban government power to seize all land."

It was the last dinner meeting of the season, according to President Alex Klein. A board of directors meeting is to be held next Thursday, to elect new officers, and form a new program for next year. All of the more than 300 members will be allowed to vote for new officers, and renewal annual membership at $10 each.

The two floral displays were awarded to Dr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson, Sikeston, and Mrs. Inez Sapp, Dexter.

In opening his remarks Dr. Mendoza stated, "It is a real privilege for me to come to Sikeston, as I have come through your city on numerous occasions since coming to St. Louis and marrying a St. Louis girl. If I had my choice to live in a single city it would be in Sikeston."

"Millions of people wonder how Fidel Castro can speak for five hours at a stretch. After coming to power in 1959, 95 per cent of the people believed him to be a savior of the people. He assured the people constitutional power and free elections would return, but they soon learned that they were sold down the river.

"It is unfortunate that the United States enacted a secret law in Washington forbidding anyone to talk against Cuba. They believe it is better to take care of troubles farther away, such as South Viet Nam. The greater number of people in Cuba feel they were born in the wrong place, as they fear the United States have abandoned the Monroe Doctrine.

"This island is 730 miles long and would stretch from Sikeston to Baltimore with seven million people, or one person for every four acres. At one time before Castro, Communism was the farthest thing from Cuba, but now it has become a satellite of Russia and completely controlled by her. Cuba never was impoverished, as it had the highest living standard, the third lowest illiteracy rate in the lower hemisphere, and always able to raise food.

"Castro delivered Cuba to Russia in a masterful way, with an insurrection in Columbia, and came out of it without any blame. He tried it again in Guatemala, but the C. I. A. put an end to the insurrection. It was the Monroe Doctrine who for 140 years guaranteed the safety of the hemisphere. Before 1823 the Spaniards controlled much in the Caribbean and Russia had Alaska. The Spanish - American War made the United States a world power and kept foreign intervention out, until the Glad Amendment was added which did away with most foreign intervention.

"My criticism of any kind is not against this country's constitution, but on the contrary, I love this country more than anything in the world, and your forefathers fought for this freedom and did not allow the countries they won their freedom from to intervene in their government. Within three months I will receive my American citizenship, and will be proud of it. I am telling you the story of what is happening today with our foreign policy.

"You cannot buy friendship with money. Today the foreign countries insult us and we are the laughing stock, as the more we give the less respect they have for us. We seem to think that it is old fashioned to be firm, but the Monroe Doctrine kept peace in the southern hemisphere for almost 150 years.

"Although I was born in Cuba, I was graduated from American schools. My wife is an American and so are my children. My wife and two of the three children had no difficulty in leaving Cuba, but my seven-year old son did. As I owned large holdings there I too was able to leave but forced to hand everything over to the government.

"My only criticism of America is because I believe in family discipline, and that is what this country was founded on. I love America and don't want it to fall because it would be just like Cuba. Castro used three methods to come to power. Restricting the use of firearms to anyone except those in the government forces; the urban reform law that took all property away and placed it in the hands of the government. There was no rent to pay, but you were only allowed to live in one place at all times, and always under surveillance; no insurance or mortgage, because all property was confiscated. Canada was the only foreign power allowed to do business and acted as agents in supplying goods.

"The Glad Amendment caused the Cubans to lose respect for America, and did away with the respected Monroe Doctrine they always cherished. How can Cuba get rid of Castro? Since it is under Communism, it makes no difference, whether he is there or not, as they control all arms. The day I can see that children will not fight at home, then will I see a nation that will not fight. First we should cleanse our own basement by taking Castro out of this system.

"I have spoken in over 300 cities, and keep repeating, 'don't give something for nothing, because countries will think just that, you are nothing. You need not fear that Russia will bury us, but the day that our freedom falls, will be the day they will enslave the United States. They need America to supply food and material to a Communist dominated world."

Senate Committee Completes Hearings On Education

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The Senate Appropriations Committee completed hearings on toughest of the House-passed money bills Thursday night, but planned to resume consideration of less worrisome measures Monday.

The Senate itself does not return to work from an Easter vacation until Tuesday.

In a hard four days of sessions that lasted from 8 a.m. until near midnight each day, the committee finally completed hearings on the most controversial budgets - higher education and mental health.

The windup came on mental health.

Superintendents of the state hospitals blamed the low morale of their staffs on low salaries. As other agency or institutional heads have said for years: we have got to have the money if we are to do the job the legislature expects of us.

Low salaries, plus overcrowding of patients and poor working conditions, have caused the primary problem at the hospitals, they told the committee. That problem is high employe turnover, running up to 30 per cent at some institutions.

After the committee completes hearings on other bills, executive sessions will be held to make changes the committee members approve.

Appropriation bills in Missouri usually have to go into committees for final compromises of House-Senate differences before the session ends June 30.

SEMO Objects To Pay $3.5 Million For Flood Easements

WASHINGTON AP--Strenuous objection was voiced Thursday by a delegation from Southeastern Missouri to a proposal that local interests by required to pay an estimated $3.5 million for new flood easements in the New Madrid floodway.

A. L. Story of Charleston, Mo., headed the group in testimony before a Senate public works subcommittee. He is president of the St. John's Levee and Drainage District.

Army engineers recently recommended some modification and change in the Mississippi River levee system at the New Madrid floodway. Engineers said that because of the proposed change, they believed new flood easements were needed in the 33-mile long floodway, and recommended local interests provide these easements.

The government now has flowage easements across the floodway, purchased at $21 an acre about 30 years ago. Story questioned the need for new easements now, since exactly the same land is involved.

If new easements are required he said, then local interests should not be required to foot the bill.

The river levee system is designed so that when flood stage reaches about 55 feet the waters overtop a fuse plug section of the levee and flow throught the floodway. This is for the purpose of averting a flood across the river at Cairo, Ill.

Army engineers propose to alter the plan so that the levee in front of the floodway would be raised and be artificially breached whenever the river reaches 58 feet at Cairo. This, they said, would presume that the floodway would be used only once in 80 years, rather than once in 17 years as at present.

Story said the spillway provides no benefit to residents in the area--it benefits only Cairo. He asked that the modifications be approved by the committee without the easement payment requirement.

Fifteen Percent To Be Paid From Fed. Grain Co.

Mr. John Hux, federal receiver for Federal Grain Company, said today that May 3rd he will appear before the U. S. District Court, the Southeast Division, at Cape Girardeau, to see if the court will allow 15% more to be paid to farmers who had grain in the Company at Vanduser.

This 15% will bring the total now paid to the producers to 90% of the original amount due. The payment this time will be from $95,000 to $100,000.

The next step, Mr. Hux said, after this one, will clear the deal up. But this doesn't mean that it will be cleared as to the total finances involved.

"My criticism of any kind is not against this country's constitution, but on the contrary, I love this country more than anything in the world, and your forefathers fought for this freedom and did not allow the countries they won their freedom from to intervene in their government. Within three months I will receive my American citizenship, and will be proud of it. I am telling you the story of what is happening today with our foreign policy.

"You cannot buy friendship with money. Today the foreign countries insult us and we are the laughing stock, as the more we give the less respect they have for us. We seem to think that it is old fashioned to be firm, but the Monroe Doctrine kept peace in the southern hemisphere for almost 150 years.

"Although I was born in Cuba, I was graduated from American schools. My wife is an American and so are my children. My wife and two of the three children had no difficulty in leaving Cuba, but my seven-year old son did. As I owned large holdings there I too was able to leave but forced to hand everything over to the government.

"My only criticism of America is because I believe in family discipline, and that is what this country was founded on. I love America and don't want it to fall because it would be just like Cuba. Castro used three methods to come to power. Restricting the use of firearms to anyone except those in the government forces; the urban reform law that took all property away and placed it in the hands of the government. There was no rent to pay, but you were only allowed to live in one place at all times, and always under surveillance; no insurance or mortgage, because all property was confiscated. Canada was the only foreign power allowed to do business and acted as agents in supplying goods.

"The Glad Amendment caused the Cubans to lose respect for America, and did away with the respected Monroe Doctrine they always cherished. How can Cuba get rid of Castro? Since it is under Communism, it makes no difference, whether he is there or not, as they control all arms. The day I can see that children will not fight at home, then will I see a nation that will not fight. First we should cleanse our own basement by taking Castro out of this system.

"I have spoken in over 300 cities, and keep repeating, 'don't give something for nothing, because countries will think just that, you are nothing. You need not fear that Russia will bury us, but the day that our freedom falls, will be the day they will enslave the United States. They need America to supply food and material to a Communist dominated world."

Next Year's First Graders To Enroll Friday, May 14

Pre - enrollment for next year's first grade pupils will be held in the Sikeston Elementary Schools on Friday, May 14th from 7:30 to 4:30 p.m. This announcement was made by Robert Miller, Director of Elementary Education. Parents may enroll their children in the school nearest their home. Notification as to the school where the child is assigned will be made at that time or at a later date previous to the beginning of the next school term.

The requirements for enrollment and entrance to school for the next term are as follows:

1. A child must have reached his sixth birthday on or before September 15, 1965.

It is absolutely necessary that all first grade children now livin the district who expect to attend school next year be enrolled on Friday, May 14th. Placing of pupils in the school nearest their home, securing teachers, and providing sufficient instructional materials is dependant upon complete enrollment of all prospective first grade pupils.

It will not be necessary for parents to bring their children along to school on May 14th when they come to enroll them. A special orientation day for the children will be held on Friday, May 21st from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Senate Committee Completes Hearings On Education

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The Senate Appropriations Committee completed hearings on toughest of the House-passed money bills Thursday night, but planned to resume consideration of less worrisome measures Monday.

The Senate itself does not return to work from an Easter vacation until Tuesday.

In a hard four days of sessions that lasted from 8 a.m. until near midnight each day, the committee finally completed hearings on the most controversial budgets - higher education and mental health.

The windup came on mental health.

Superintendents of the state hospitals blamed the low morale of their staffs on low salaries. As other agency or institutional heads have said for years: we have got to have the money if we are to do the job the legislature expects of us.

Low salaries, plus overcrowding of patients and poor working conditions, have caused the primary problem at the hospitals, they told the committee. That problem is high employe turnover, running up to 30 per cent at some institutions.

After the committee completes hearings on other bills, executive sessions will be held to make changes the committee members approve.

Appropriation bills in Missouri usually have to go into committees for final compromises of House-Senate differences before the session ends June 30.

AN AGREEMENT ON TIME

The Senate Commerce Committee starts discussion on Monday (April 26) on what to do about the annual confusion over Daylight Saving Time.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME is popular with factory and office workers, golfers and fishermen, city merchants, and businessmen. It is suffered by railroad schedule makers, and television programmers. It is opposed by outdoor movie operators, bowling alley proprietors, and tavern keepers. It is anathema, the Devil's invention, to farmers, who insist that cows want to be milked on "God's Time." With the steady advance of state and federal legislative reapportionment, the once strident political voice of the farmer slowly diminishes, and an end to the time confusion appears feasible.

As it is, 31 states and the District of Columbia have DST, either state-wide or by local option. But only 15 start and stop simultaneously. That means that clocks will be put AHEAD in only 15 states on next Sunday, the last Sunday in April. The same states will retard clocks one hour on the last Sunday in October. In 16 states DST, like booze, is a matter of local option.

AN EXTREMELY MODEST START toward bringing order into chaos has been made in Congress. The Senate Commerce Committee early last year approved a bill that would have authorized the Interstate Commerce Commission to impose uniform time standards on all federal agencies and on such interstate businesses as airlines, buses, railroads, and communications companies. The committee rejected stronger legislation to force federal time standards on all states for business and civil purposes.

The House Commerce Committee last August approved by a 9 to 8 vote a compromise bill that would set a uniform period for DST but would allow many exceptions. For one reason or another both measures, criticized as too permissive, failed to reach the floor.

Identical bills have been offered in both houses this year. The Senate Commerce Committee on Monday begins discussion on a bill by Sen. Norris Cotton (R N. H.) and Gale W. McGee (D Wyo.)

THE COST and work imposed by DST is not generally realized. Western Union, "the nation's timekeeper," once estimated that it had to adjust 40,000 clocks in tens of hundreds of cities.

Add to this hubbub the general inability to agree not only on whether to have it at all but also on when to have it, and confusion is compounded mightily. Some years ago the Transportation Association of America cited the case of a bus operating over a 35-mile stretch of highway between Steubenville, Ohio, and Moundsville, W. Va., which passed through seven time zones. A drummer traveling through the Old Dominion of Virginia can get the Joe Blakes just from time changes.

Because federal law still requires railroads to operate on standard time, many of them must publish two kinds of time-tables, one based on standard time for the use of employees and the other reporting passenger train schedules on local time (fast and standard) for the convenience of the traveling public. Railroad labor would welcome uniformity. The union leaders also think they might improve their benefits if needless and costly time-table changes were eliminated.

Fast or slow, God's or man's, Americans before too long may at least agree on the time of day.

Is death the worst that can happen to a driver involved in an accident? Is this the aspect of motor vehicle accidents that most frightens him, and makes him pay the most attention to safety slogans and warnings?

Maybe not, according to a study that was conducted by the Pure Oil Company and the American Trucking Associations. In a booklet titled, "What Motorists Really Think About Traffic Safety!", it's suggested that many drivers may fear life-long disability, inability to earn money, permanent injury and crippling even more than sudden death.

Perhaps the fear of crippling a wife, child or other loved ones would make a deeper impression on drivers, in comparison to the fear of death.

While there were 40,900 motor vehicle deaths in 1962, there were 1,500,000 accidents that disabled the driver or passengers for more than one day.

The Pure-ATA study suggests that emphasis on this side of the accident problem - rather than on fatalities alone -- might be effective, but is almost entirely overlooked in safety slogans and campaigns.

The study notes that most drivers are unimpressed by the usual range of safety slogans and signs that are designed to scare them. At least partly this is because the average driver considers himself to be a "good driver" and the slogans, therefore, don't really apply to him.

Another factor in this lack of effectiveness is that many slogans and scare-warnings just scare the driver - but don't tell him what to do, or how to drive better.

Perhaps more attention to the disabling, crippling accident aspects of automobile safety, and more advice on good driving and precautions rather than on "scare," would help to slow down both accident and fatality rates.

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "Perhaps most of our industrial strife stems from the strange notion that profits are automatic and that the big thing is to put in the working hours rather than pay attention to what is actually produced. One often runs into this attitude when hiring the young people, especially. Our Schools are apparently falling down when it comes to the inculcation of proper work attitudes. And indifference to the same thing in the homes is adding to our disciplinary troubles."

Prior to this momentous occasion fried cakes were a delicacy made from a recipe brought by the Pilgrims from Holland where they were known as "oelykoecks," or cakes fried in oil. The Pilgrims embellished the simple dessert by placing first a raisin, then a nut on the top of each cake - thus "dough-nut."

NEW YORK (AP) — How is your garden of memories?

If you're like most people, you find it a pleasant place to take a mental stroll —and walk there more often as you grow older, for it is full of timeless flowers.

And you've got a pretty good-size memory garden if you can look back and remember when—

Summer wasn't official until you had gotten a stomachache from eating green apples picked in a daring night raid on a neighbor's tree.

Only rich families could afford a backyard swimming pool. A girl who appeared at a public beach in a suit that showed her dimpled knees could be arrested.

The handsome young Prince of Wales, the world's most eligible bachelor, went fox hunting on Long Island. According to rumor, he fell off his horse.

At the end of World War I the number of U.S. millionaires had increased from 16,000 to 20,000.

You were regarded as a local intellectual if you had an illustrated set of Dr. Burton Homes travelogues in your home.

The best horseshoe pitcher in town had more admirers than the leading banker.

Hailing the advent of the prohibition era, Evangelist Billy Sunday made a rosy forecast: "The slums soon will be only a memory. Hell will be forever for rent."

No kitchen was complete without a big oak icebox with real brass fixtures. In winter you cooled things by putting them in a box outside the window.

The only Americans who enjoyed skiing were kids on barrel staves.

The dream of every working man was to own a wide-striped shirt made of real silk. And if it had sleeve garters — well, all the snazzier.

The glad-handing at businessmen's club luncheons so annoyed H. L. Mencken that the Baltimore sage declared, "The first Rotarian was the first man to call John the Baptist Jack."

Girls visiting big cities were warned to beware of streetcar "mashers." These trolley Romeos usually were thought to have well-oiled hair, a waxed mustache and wear pearl gray spats. Their garlic breath also sometimes gave them away as the cads they were.

Many a farmhand's sole claim to fame was the fact that he could roll a cigarette — using only one hand.

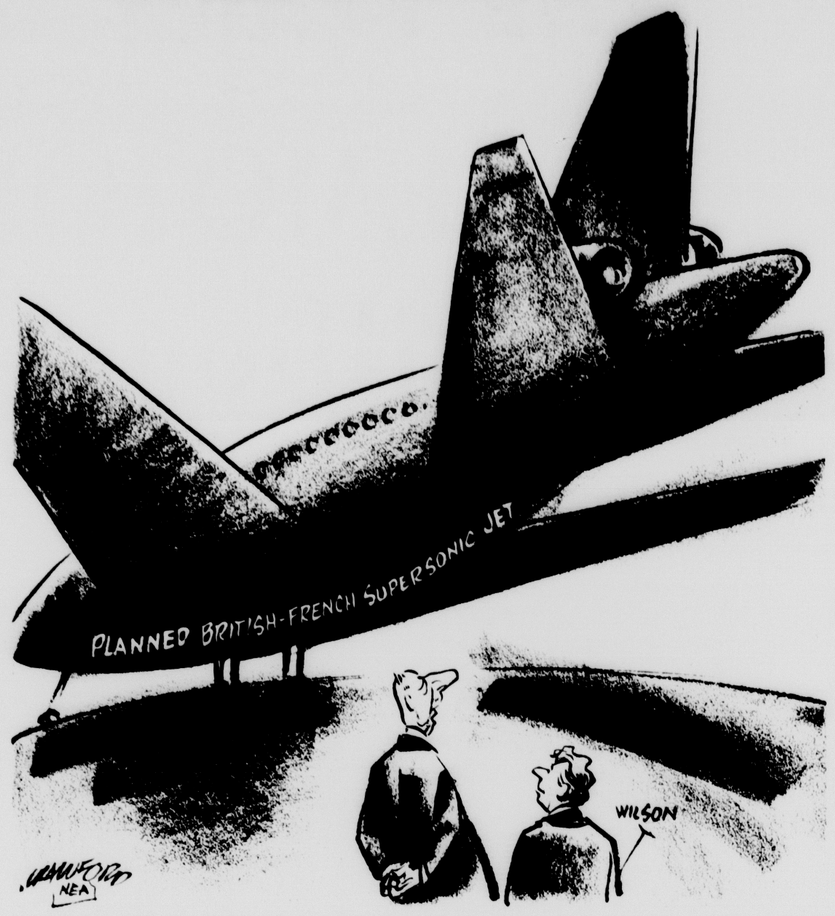
A country teacher was never secure in his job until he had proved to the community's satisfaction that he could thrash the biggest boy in school.

It was almost a scandal for a young man to get married while still in college. He was expected to quit immediately and get a steady job.

You could usually get a blind date by dialing the phone operator and asking if she or one of her girl friends would like to step our after work.

Those were the good old days.

"Of Course, I'll Be the Pilot, Copilot, Navigator And Select the Movies to Be Shown!"



A 7-year-old boy was being taught the proper way to ask a girl for a dance by the teacher in the dance instruction class. A half-hour later the kid asked the teacher, "Now, how do I get rid of her?"

THE FEDERAL BLITZ AGAIN

The nation has been alerted by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce to the latest bid of the Washington bureaucrats and the National Education Association (the "Teachers' Union") for Federal control of the public schools.

Despite the fact that there is less need for Federal aid in this area than at any time since the end of WW II, the Council warns that the champions of Federal takeover, intoxicated with the gaudy plans for the "Great Society" have come up with a new gimmick called "poverty-impact funds" and that the House will soon vote on this $1.3 billion-a-year education control bill.

Analysis of the bill by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research for the Council, reveals that 95 percent of the nation's 3130 counties (including most of the wealthiest) would be eligible for this educational handout. Denied funds would be only 171 counties, mostly rural and mountain areas.

"Of the 4.9 million school-age children from improverish families (less than $2,000 income), " says Mr. Rinta's report, "1.5 million are in 770 counties where the children of improverish families represent less than 10 percent of all school-age children, and in numerous counties, less than 5 percent.

"Thirty-nine percent of the poverty-impact funds would go to counties with only 31 percent of the nation's impoverished children and each of which has less than the national average proportion of poor children."

Mr. Rinta noted further that the nation's ten wealthiest counties (with only two to four percent of their children in the poverty bracket) would receive $8.9 million in 1966 - as compared with $4.5 million for ten poor counties with 35 to 54 percent of their children from impoverished families. The numbers of youngsters in the two groups, he said, are almost identical.

Mr. Rinta went on to note from data of the US Office of Education and the NEA that the problems of the past decade with its school-age "population explosion" were far greater than those of the decade ahead. "During the 1954-64 decade, public school enrollements rose 12.9 million or 43 percent," he said. "In comparison, the projected increases in the next decade are 6.1 million or 15 percent."

YET, he emphasized, THE CHALLENGE OF THE LAST DECADE WAS MET BY THE STATES AND LOCAL COMMUNITIES - AND THE CLASSROOM AND TEACHER-PUPIL RATIOS WERE IMPROVED AT THE SAME TIME!

Inside Labor

President Set to Keep Party's Pledges to Union Chiefs; Soon Will Ask Congress to Change Nation's Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, D.C.—President Johnson has decided the moment has come to attempt to change some of the basic labor laws of the land.

Since the President is a devotee of the theory that "politics is the art of the possible," he believes he'll win his fight in Congress, or he would not have picked the next few weeks for the time in which to keep his pledges to the nation's union chiefs.

Finishing touches are being put on the presidential labor message to Congress —where it will raise a sonar boom from a well prepared troop of Congressmen marshaled by Sen. McClellan.

Insiders say that the President's strategy is to send the "package" up the Hill during the week of May 3. This is no random date.

That Monday morning more than 5,000 union officials will open the biggest labor gathering of officers in history. These men will be delegates to the 10th National Legislative Conference of the Building and Construction Trades unions located from coast to coast.

They'll speak for over 3 million AFL-CIO members. And not only do they know how to speak, but how to fan out, lobby, buttonhole, pound desks, argue and cajole representatives and senators from their home districts. On May 4 the 5,000 delegates will do just that.

They'll be all over the Hill, the House and Senate office buildings, the dining rooms and private congressional offices.

What more strategic moment can the President pick for his labor message?

The President believes such a message must be sent because the Democratic Party platform commits him. To what?

To at least four major bills which can change the country's collective bargaining face.

No labor leader doubts that the President will ask bluntly for the repeal of the states' power to pass laws allowing workers to keep their jobs without joining unions.

To keep this power from the states the President will ask for repeal of the now famous clause 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Immediately it is repealed, labor can bargain for such union shop contracts, which are now prohibited in 19 states.

Another part of the presidential package is something with which the public is not familiar. The President is expected to ask for a second repealer — this time for that section of the Taft-Hartley Act which bans "situs picketing."

This could affect billions of dollars worth of construction of skyscrapers, dams, shopping centers and missile sites.

The phrase "situs picketing" means the picketing of a single project being constructed by many contractors. Thus 20 construction firms could be involved on the same huge site.

Some of these contractors would be using union help. Some would not. So, there could be 40 or 50 different unions involved — and some non-union workers as well.

Naturally, the labor leaders would want to unionize the entire project. They could do this easily by throwing pickets around the non-union employer, just as they might string pickets in front of a factory.

But on a common site all the workers would stop even though they were employed by companies not involved in the dispute. Such common situs picketing was legal for a long time.

Then came the law forbidding such picketing of one employer if it affected the work on a common project. The ban was upheld by the Supreme Court a decade ago.

Since then the powerful building and construction trades have sought repeal of the law so they could picket such projects.

The President has pledged his support for both repealers.

Such support is expected to be frankly expressed in his message. There will be a long conflict in Congress.

The labor forces and the opposition know that repeal will open the nation's new frontiers to far-flung unionizing drives, which could add millions of members to the movement.

This will be the noisiest, toughest battle the Hill has seen in many a year.

There is clearly less need today for Federal aid to education than might have been argued for many years past. But the eagerness of the Federal fatcats to "help" is greater than ever. And the need to keep saying "NO" was never more pressing.

The sharply-rolled and sharp-snapped brim is best for the slender, young man; the flat set brim is better looking for the full face. The tall man should have a wider brim than the short man. And the thin face requires a crown with lots of taper, while the full face requires a full crown (with no front dents).

H. L. Hunt Says

A STEP TOWARD PEACE?

If we pull out of South Viet Nam by agreement demands for disarmament will be revived. To many, disarmament is a self - evident virtue, an absolutely good thing. They naively assume disarmament equals peace. This century's history indicates clearly disarmament is the road to war.

Many will forget or disbelieve that a bill passed the Senate September 8, 1961, the House September 19, 1961, and President Kennedy signed it into Public Law 87-297 September 26, 1961. It authorized the President to proceed with disarmament, subject only to consent of the Senate. The Senate could be servile or a simple majority of 2 or 3 present could conceivably ratify.

Powerful forces exert tremendous pressure to disarm as a "step toward peace." Complete disarmament was first proposed by Khrushchev at the UN in September, 1959, 2 years before Congress authorized the President to disarm this nation.

A second form of disarmament is arms limitation and control by treaty agreements among nations. This is a boon to the "ban the bomb"-ers. It proposes formal agreements among the "powers" limiting the weapons they have, giving weapons to "controllers" to "punish aggressors." An example of the second form is the 1963 Nuclear Test - Ban Treaty. Disarmament agreement was tried following World War I. Major free nations complied; Germany and Japan did not. We paid a terrible price for a lesson we should not so soon forget.

"Unilateral Disarmament" is a third form: a nation disarms itself innocently hoping others follow suit. This is pacifism. With conquerors active like China, Russia, Cuba, it is also national suicide.

Disarmament removes the shields protecting free, peace-loving people. Disarmament builds nothing. It will tear down everything freedom - loving people have built. HLH.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Alabama congressman William Dickinson, a Republican, who made the lurid charges on the House floor about sex and seduction among the civil rights marchers, is planning a repeat performance.

To make sure he gets a big audience, he has written privately to his House colleagues inviting them to the show.

"On March 30th I made a speech on the Floor entitled 'March on Montgomery — The Untold Story,' " he wrote. "To say the least, this has created much comment. There are some who have questioned the accuracy of my facts and, indeed, the truth of my remarks."

Dickinson will answer his critics in another House speech on April 27.

"On that date," he writes, "I plan to offer to the House what I believe will be considered adequate proof and ask for appropriate action of this House.

"I invite the presence of all interested members. I cannot promise you will like what I say, but I do promise you will not be bored."

Note: The march on Montgomery not only was led by many of the nation's most distinguished ministers, but trained observers from newspapers all over the world failed to see evidence of the debauchery Dickinson has described.

—LANDRUM-GRIFFIN EFFECT—

There is more than meets the eye behind the threatened steel strike. It's a restlessness taking place in some of the big labor unions which Jimmy Hoffa of the Teamsters, no slouch as a union authority, attributes to the Landrum-Griffin Act.

"You fellows passed the act," says Hoffa, "now both you and labor have got to live with it. And it requires elections for union officers.

"When you have elections, the boys in the locals are going to vote for the man who gets them what they want. And what they want are wage increases.

"Some presidents who spend their time sitting around with business leaders in the board rooms or lunching at the White House aren't going to get re-elected. When Congress passed the Landrum-Griffin Act requiring union elections, it forgot that the chief goal of the American people — including labor — is to get more for less."

Shortly after Hoffa made this diagnosis, two big union elections voted against two famous labor leaders —Dave McDonald of the Steelworkers and Jim Carey of the United Electrical Workers.

McDonald had established one of the most progressive systems of adjusting wage and working conditions in labor history. Problems have been solved by labor-industry committees as they arose. There has been no steel strike for six years. But to do this, Dave mingled with steel executives, got out of touch with his men.

So some local presidents deserted McDonald to join challenger I. S. Abel. And in the unionwide election Dave came out the loser. The margin is close and the election is still being contested, but the net effect is that both McDonald and Abel have to be tough bargainers. Each is determined to outbargain the other, which means more chance of a strike, more chance that the national economy will suffer.

Note — Because of the Steelworkers' election battle, best solution for the wage dispute is a one-year temporary contract at around 12½-cent wage increase. Secretary of Commerce John Connor, who once served on the business advisory council with U. S. Steel chairman Roger Blough, is the man who could probably engineer this.

—EXIT JIM CAREY—

Jim Carey, like McDonald, trained under an enlightened labor leader, Phil Murray. And, like Murray, Carey worked not only for labor but for the nation.

He battled the once Communist-dominated United Electrical Workers. He took on the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan, and the White Citizens Councils when the latter two tried to infiltrate his union. He helped rebuild the Clinton, Tenn., schoolhouse and the Birmingham Baptist Church, both blown up by bombs of bigotry.

When Nikita Khrushchev came to the United States, Jim Carey was among his most vigorous, though courteous, opponents in debating the merits of capitalism and Communism.

Most important of all, from the viewpoint of trade unionism, Carey won a four-year battle with the giant General Electric Corporation over such unfair labor practices as negotiation by ultimatum, sometimes called "boulwarism."

Just at the height of the praise emanating from this decision by the National Labor Relations Board, Carey lost his race for re-election. The GE decision affected every working man in the country. It was a victory not only for Carey but for every member of the AFL-CIO.

Despite this, the Electrical Workers voted to throw Carey out. Instead they elected Paul Jennings, an able and conscientious union leader but without Carey's record for fighting national battles for his fellowmen.

While working on national problems, Carey had made the significant mistake of increasing union dues. He also changed the check-off system so that companies sent their dues direct to union headquarters in Washington, not to the locals. Thus local leaders could not sweeten the local treasuries before sending the money to Washington.

These are some of the factors behind the steel wage talks and other bargaining negotiations around the country. The Landrum-Griffin Act cuts two ways.

—FOOD PRICES AND CHAIN STORES—

WASHINGTON — One of the ironies of today's market basket, now being studied by the President's national commission on food marketing at hearings in Fort Worth, Texas, is the amazing disparity between what the farmer receives and what the housewife pays for the food she puts on the table.

One of the dangers is that this could lead to further mergers in our economy. At Fort Worth you hear such terms as "backward integration," that is, the ownership of packing houses by big chain stores. This has helped to force down the farm price of beef on the hoof and has some beef producers on the verge of bankruptcy.

You also hear the term "forward integration." This is the opposite technique being contemplated by some farm groups, such as the Ohio Farm Bureau and the Farmers Union, which have considered taking over food chains to market their own products — as a means of self-protection.

Of six major food items studied by the Department of Agriculture, all have risen considerably in retail price since 1947, while the price the farmer gets for the same items, in an unprocessed state, has dropped considerably. Only three products — pork, milk and eggs — have varied from this trend.

Retail cuts of pork have dropped 11.2 per cent, to the housewife, since 1947, while the farmer also has received less for pork, by 37.9 per cent. A bottle of milk costs 27.5 per cent more at retail while the dairy farmer gets 0.9 per cent more. Eggs are down 26.7 per cent to the housewife, down 36.3 per cent to the farmer.

Here is the topsy-turvy history (since 1947) of the other food items studied by the department: choice lamb roast, up 24.4 per cent to consumer, down 16.5 per cent to farmer; choice beef, up 26 per cent to consumer, down 13.8 per cent to farmer; white bread, up 63.6 per cent to consumer, down 26.2 per cent to farmer; corn flakes, up 67.1 per cent to consumer, down 41.9 per cent to farmer; potatoes, up 28.9 per cent to consumer, down 44.7 per cent to farmer; salad dressing, up 5.2 per cent to consumer, down 43.1 per cent to farmer.

AN AGREEMENT ON TIME

The Senate Commerce Committee starts discussion on Monday (April 26) on what to do about the annual confusion over Daylight Saving Time.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME is popular with factory and office workers, golfers and fishermen, city merchants, and businessmen. It is suffered by railroad schedule makers, and television programmers. It is opposed by outdoor movie operators, bowling alley proprietors, and tavern keepers. It is anathema, the Devil's invention, to farmers, who insist that cows want to be milked on "God's Time." With the steady advance of state and federal legislative reapportionment, the once strident political voice of the farmer slowly diminishes, and an end to the time confusion appears feasible.

As it is, 31 states and the District of Columbia have DST, either state-wide or by local option. But only 15 start and stop simultaneously. That means that clocks will be put AHEAD in only 15 states on next Sunday, the last Sunday in April. The same states will retard clocks one hour on the last Sunday in October. In 16 states DST, like booze, is a matter of local option.

AN EXTREMELY MODEST START toward bringing order into chaos has been made in Congress. The Senate Commerce Committee early last year approved a bill that would have authorized the Interstate Commerce Commission to impose uniform time standards on all federal agencies and on such interstate businesses as airlines, buses, railroads, and communications companies. The committee rejected stronger legislation to force federal time standards on all states for business and civil purposes.

The House Commerce Committee last August approved by a 9 to 8 vote a compromise bill that would set a uniform period for DST but would allow many exceptions. For one reason or another both measures, criticized as too permissive, failed to reach the floor.

Identical bills have been offered in both houses this year. The Senate Commerce Committee on Monday begins discussion on a bill by Sen. Norris Cotton (R N. H.) and Gale W. McGee (D Wyo.)

THE COST and work imposed by DST is not generally realized. Western Union, "the nation's timekeeper," once estimated that it had to adjust 40,000 clocks in tens of hundreds of cities.

Add to this hubbub the general inability to agree not only on whether to have it at all but also on when to have it, and confusion is compounded mightily. Some years ago the Transportation Association of America cited the case of a bus operating over a 35-mile stretch of highway between Steubenville, Ohio, and Moundsville, W. Va., which passed through seven time zones. A drummer traveling through the Old Dominion of Virginia can get the Joe Blakes just from time changes.

Because federal law still requires railroads to operate on standard time, many of them must publish two kinds of time-tables, one based on standard time for the use of employees and the other reporting passenger train schedules on local time (fast and standard) for the convenience of the traveling public. Railroad labor would welcome uniformity. The union leaders also think they might improve their benefits if needless and costly time-table changes were eliminated.

Fast or slow, God's or man's, Americans before too long may at least agree on the time of day.

Is death the worst that can happen to a driver involved in an accident? Is this the aspect of motor vehicle accidents that most frightens him, and makes him pay the most attention to safety slogans and warnings?

Maybe not, according to a study that was conducted by the Pure Oil Company and the American Trucking Associations. In a booklet titled, "What Motorists Really Think About Traffic Safety!", it's suggested that many drivers may fear life-long disability, inability to earn money, permanent injury and crippling even more than sudden death.

Perhaps the fear of crippling a wife, child or other loved ones would make a deeper impression on drivers, in comparison to the fear of death.

While there were 40,900 motor vehicle deaths in 1962, there were 1,500,000 accidents that disabled the driver or passengers for more than one day.

The Pure-ATA study suggests that emphasis on this side of the accident problem - rather than on fatalities alone -- might be effective, but is almost entirely overlooked in safety slogans and campaigns.

The study notes that most drivers are unimpressed by the usual range of safety slogans and signs that are designed to scare them. At least partly this is because the average driver considers himself to be a "good driver" and the slogans, therefore, don't really apply to him.

Another factor in this lack of effectiveness is that many slogans and scare-warnings just scare the driver - but don't tell him what to do, or how to drive better.

Perhaps more attention to the disabling, crippling accident aspects of automobile safety, and more advice on good driving and precautions rather than on "scare," would help to slow down both accident and fatality rates.

Prior to this momentous occasion fried cakes were a delicacy made from a recipe brought by the Pilgrims from Holland where they were known as "oelykoecks," or cakes fried in oil. The Pilgrims embellished the simple dessert by placing first a raisin, then a nut on the top of each cake - thus "dough-nut."

THE FEDERAL BLITZ AGAIN

The nation has been alerted by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce to the latest bid of the Washington bureaucrats and the National Education Association (the "Teachers' Union") for Federal control of the public schools.

Despite the fact that there is less need for Federal aid in this area than at any time since the end of WW II, the Council warns that the champions of Federal takeover, intoxicated with the gaudy plans for the "Great Society" have come up with a new gimmick called "poverty-impact funds" and that the House will soon vote on this $1.3 billion-a-year education control bill.

Analysis of the bill by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research for the Council, reveals that 95 percent of the nation's 3130 counties (including most of the wealthiest) would be eligible for this educational handout. Denied funds would be only 171 counties, mostly rural and mountain areas.

"Of the 4.9 million school-age children from improverish families (less than $2,000 income), " says Mr. Rinta's report, "1.5 million are in 770 counties where the children of improverish families represent less than 10 percent of all school-age children, and in numerous counties, less than 5 percent.

"Thirty-nine percent of the poverty-impact funds would go to counties with only 31 percent of the nation's impoverished children and each of which has less than the national average proportion of poor children."

Mr. Rinta noted further that the nation's ten wealthiest counties (with only two to four percent of their children in the poverty bracket) would receive $8.9 million in 1966 - as compared with $4.5 million for ten poor counties with 35 to 54 percent of their children from impoverished families. The numbers of youngsters in the two groups, he said, are almost identical.

Mr. Rinta went on to note from data of the US Office of Education and the NEA that the problems of the past decade with its school-age "population explosion" were far greater than those of the decade ahead. "During the 1954-64 decade, public school enrollements rose 12.9 million or 43 percent," he said. "In comparison, the projected increases in the next decade are 6.1 million or 15 percent."

YET, he emphasized, THE CHALLENGE OF THE LAST DECADE WAS MET BY THE STATES AND LOCAL COMMUNITIES - AND THE CLASSROOM AND TEACHER-PUPIL RATIOS WERE IMPROVED AT THE SAME TIME!

There is clearly less need today for Federal aid to education than might have been argued for many years past. But the eagerness of the Federal fatcats to "help" is greater than ever. And the need to keep saying "NO" was never more pressing.

The sharply-rolled and sharp-snapped brim is best for the slender, young man; the flat set brim is better looking for the full face. The tall man should have a wider brim than the short man. And the thin face requires a crown with lots of taper, while the full face requires a full crown (with no front dents).

H. L. Hunt Says

A STEP TOWARD PEACE?

If we pull out of South Viet Nam by agreement demands for disarmament will be revived. To many, disarmament is a self - evident virtue, an absolutely good thing. They naively assume disarmament equals peace. This century's history indicates clearly disarmament is the road to war.

Many will forget or disbelieve that a bill passed the Senate September 8, 1961, the House September 19, 1961, and President Kennedy signed it into Public Law 87-297 September 26, 1961. It authorized the President to proceed with disarmament, subject only to consent of the Senate. The Senate could be servile or a simple majority of 2 or 3 present could conceivably ratify.

Powerful forces exert tremendous pressure to disarm as a "step toward peace." Complete disarmament was first proposed by Khrushchev at the UN in September, 1959, 2 years before Congress authorized the President to disarm this nation.

A second form of disarmament is arms limitation and control by treaty agreements among nations. This is a boon to the "ban the bomb"-ers. It proposes formal agreements among the "powers" limiting the weapons they have, giving weapons to "controllers" to "punish aggressors." An example of the second form is the 1963 Nuclear Test - Ban Treaty. Disarmament agreement was tried following World War I. Major free nations complied; Germany and Japan did not. We paid a terrible price for a lesson we should not so soon forget.

"Unilateral Disarmament" is a third form: a nation disarms itself innocently hoping others follow suit. This is pacifism. With conquerors active like China, Russia, Cuba, it is also national suicide.

Disarmament removes the shields protecting free, peace-loving people. Disarmament builds nothing. It will tear down everything freedom - loving people have built. HLH.

NEW YORK (AP) — How is your garden of memories?

If you're like most people, you find it a pleasant place to take a mental stroll —and walk there more often as you grow older, for it is full of timeless flowers.

And you've got a pretty good-size memory garden if you can look back and remember when—

Summer wasn't official until you had gotten a stomachache from eating green apples picked in a daring night raid on a neighbor's tree.

Only rich families could afford a backyard swimming pool. A girl who appeared at a public beach in a suit that showed her dimpled knees could be arrested.

The handsome young Prince of Wales, the world's most eligible bachelor, went fox hunting on Long Island. According to rumor, he fell off his horse.

At the end of World War I the number of U.S. millionaires had increased from 16,000 to 20,000.

You were regarded as a local intellectual if you had an illustrated set of Dr. Burton Homes travelogues in your home.

The best horseshoe pitcher in town had more admirers than the leading banker.

Hailing the advent of the prohibition era, Evangelist Billy Sunday made a rosy forecast: "The slums soon will be only a memory. Hell will be forever for rent."

No kitchen was complete without a big oak icebox with real brass fixtures. In winter you cooled things by putting them in a box outside the window.

The only Americans who enjoyed skiing were kids on barrel staves.

The dream of every working man was to own a wide-striped shirt made of real silk. And if it had sleeve garters — well, all the snazzier.

The glad-handing at businessmen's club luncheons so annoyed H. L. Mencken that the Baltimore sage declared, "The first Rotarian was the first man to call John the Baptist Jack."

Girls visiting big cities were warned to beware of streetcar "mashers." These trolley Romeos usually were thought to have well-oiled hair, a waxed mustache and wear pearl gray spats. Their garlic breath also sometimes gave them away as the cads they were.

Many a farmhand's sole claim to fame was the fact that he could roll a cigarette — using only one hand.

A country teacher was never secure in his job until he had proved to the community's satisfaction that he could thrash the biggest boy in school.

It was almost a scandal for a young man to get married while still in college. He was expected to quit immediately and get a steady job.

You could usually get a blind date by dialing the phone operator and asking if she or one of her girl friends would like to step our after work.

Those were the good old days.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

President Set to Keep Party's Pledges to Union Chiefs; Soon Will Ask Congress to Change Nation's Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, D.C.—President Johnson has decided the moment has come to attempt to change some of the basic labor laws of the land.

Since the President is a devotee of the theory that "politics is the art of the possible," he believes he'll win his fight in Congress, or he would not have picked the next few weeks for the time in which to keep his pledges to the nation's union chiefs.

Finishing touches are being put on the presidential labor message to Congress —where it will raise a sonar boom from a well prepared troop of Congressmen marshaled by Sen. McClellan.

Insiders say that the President's strategy is to send the "package" up the Hill during the week of May 3. This is no random date.

That Monday morning more than 5,000 union officials will open the biggest labor gathering of officers in history. These men will be delegates to the 10th National Legislative Conference of the Building and Construction Trades unions located from coast to coast.

They'll speak for over 3 million AFL-CIO members. And not only do they know how to speak, but how to fan out, lobby, buttonhole, pound desks, argue and cajole representatives and senators from their home districts. On May 4 the 5,000 delegates will do just that.

They'll be all over the Hill, the House and Senate office buildings, the dining rooms and private congressional offices.

What more strategic moment can the President pick for his labor message?

The President believes such a message must be sent because the Democratic Party platform commits him. To what?

To at least four major bills which can change the country's collective bargaining face.

No labor leader doubts that the President will ask bluntly for the repeal of the states' power to pass laws allowing workers to keep their jobs without joining unions.

To keep this power from the states the President will ask for repeal of the now famous clause 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Immediately it is repealed, labor can bargain for such union shop contracts, which are now prohibited in 19 states.

Another part of the presidential package is something with which the public is not familiar. The President is expected to ask for a second repealer — this time for that section of the Taft-Hartley Act which bans "situs picketing."

This could affect billions of dollars worth of construction of skyscrapers, dams, shopping centers and missile sites.

The phrase "situs picketing" means the picketing of a single project being constructed by many contractors. Thus 20 construction firms could be involved on the same huge site.

Some of these contractors would be using union help. Some would not. So, there could be 40 or 50 different unions involved — and some non-union workers as well.

Naturally, the labor leaders would want to unionize the entire project. They could do this easily by throwing pickets around the non-union employer, just as they might string pickets in front of a factory.

But on a common site all the workers would stop even though they were employed by companies not involved in the dispute. Such common situs picketing was legal for a long time.

Then came the law forbidding such picketing of one employer if it affected the work on a common project. The ban was upheld by the Supreme Court a decade ago.

Since then the powerful building and construction trades have sought repeal of the law so they could picket such projects.

The President has pledged his support for both repealers.

Such support is expected to be frankly expressed in his message. There will be a long conflict in Congress.

The labor forces and the opposition know that repeal will open the nation's new frontiers to far-flung unionizing drives, which could add millions of members to the movement.

This will be the noisiest, toughest battle the Hill has seen in many a year.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Alabama congressman William Dickinson, a Republican, who made the lurid charges on the House floor about sex and seduction among the civil rights marchers, is planning a repeat performance.

To make sure he gets a big audience, he has written privately to his House colleagues inviting them to the show.

"On March 30th I made a speech on the Floor entitled 'March on Montgomery — The Untold Story,' " he wrote. "To say the least, this has created much comment. There are some who have questioned the accuracy of my facts and, indeed, the truth of my remarks."

Dickinson will answer his critics in another House speech on April 27.

"On that date," he writes, "I plan to offer to the House what I believe will be considered adequate proof and ask for appropriate action of this House.

"I invite the presence of all interested members. I cannot promise you will like what I say, but I do promise you will not be bored."

Note: The march on Montgomery not only was led by many of the nation's most distinguished ministers, but trained observers from newspapers all over the world failed to see evidence of the debauchery Dickinson has described.

—LANDRUM-GRIFFIN EFFECT—

There is more than meets the eye behind the threatened steel strike. It's a restlessness taking place in some of the big labor unions which Jimmy Hoffa of the Teamsters, no slouch as a union authority, attributes to the Landrum-Griffin Act.

"You fellows passed the act," says Hoffa, "now both you and labor have got to live with it. And it requires elections for union officers.

"When you have elections, the boys in the locals are going to vote for the man who gets them what they want. And what they want are wage increases.

"Some presidents who spend their time sitting around with business leaders in the board rooms or lunching at the White House aren't going to get re-elected. When Congress passed the Landrum-Griffin Act requiring union elections, it forgot that the chief goal of the American people — including labor — is to get more for less."

Shortly after Hoffa made this diagnosis, two big union elections voted against two famous labor leaders —Dave McDonald of the Steelworkers and Jim Carey of the United Electrical Workers.

McDonald had established one of the most progressive systems of adjusting wage and working conditions in labor history. Problems have been solved by labor-industry committees as they arose. There has been no steel strike for six years. But to do this, Dave mingled with steel executives, got out of touch with his men.

So some local presidents deserted McDonald to join challenger I. S. Abel. And in the unionwide election Dave came out the loser. The margin is close and the election is still being contested, but the net effect is that both McDonald and Abel have to be tough bargainers. Each is determined to outbargain the other, which means more chance of a strike, more chance that the national economy will suffer.

Note — Because of the Steelworkers' election battle, best solution for the wage dispute is a one-year temporary contract at around 12½-cent wage increase. Secretary of Commerce John Connor, who once served on the business advisory council with U. S. Steel chairman Roger Blough, is the man who could probably engineer this.

—EXIT JIM CAREY—

Jim Carey, like McDonald, trained under an enlightened labor leader, Phil Murray. And, like Murray, Carey worked not only for labor but for the nation.

He battled the once Communist-dominated United Electrical Workers. He took on the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan, and the White Citizens Councils when the latter two tried to infiltrate his union. He helped rebuild the Clinton, Tenn., schoolhouse and the Birmingham Baptist Church, both blown up by bombs of bigotry.

When Nikita Khrushchev came to the United States, Jim Carey was among his most vigorous, though courteous, opponents in debating the merits of capitalism and Communism.

Most important of all, from the viewpoint of trade unionism, Carey won a four-year battle with the giant General Electric Corporation over such unfair labor practices as negotiation by ultimatum, sometimes called "boulwarism."

Just at the height of the praise emanating from this decision by the National Labor Relations Board, Carey lost his race for re-election. The GE decision affected every working man in the country. It was a victory not only for Carey but for every member of the AFL-CIO.

Despite this, the Electrical Workers voted to throw Carey out. Instead they elected Paul Jennings, an able and conscientious union leader but without Carey's record for fighting national battles for his fellowmen.

While working on national problems, Carey had made the significant mistake of increasing union dues. He also changed the check-off system so that companies sent their dues direct to union headquarters in Washington, not to the locals. Thus local leaders could not sweeten the local treasuries before sending the money to Washington.

These are some of the factors behind the steel wage talks and other bargaining negotiations around the country. The Landrum-Griffin Act cuts two ways.

The Modern Christian

Why Do Catholic Christians Pray A Different "Lord's Prayer" Than Protestant Christians?

Our Father who art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come,
Thy will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
And forgive us our debts,
As we also have forgiven our debtors;
And lead us not into temptation,
But deliver us from evil.

I presume that you are speaking of, "For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen." This is a beautiful ending to the Lord's Prayer, and I personally wish that western cultured Catholics would use it.

Thosands of Catholic school children in the United States are now learning that phrase. Its origin is very ancient and has been used for centuries by Greek and Slavic Catholics, as well as by Byzantine Catholics.

It is still used by millions of Catholics who are the same kind of Catholics as you meet on the streets of Sikeston, and at one time this phrase was found in various Catholic editions of the Bible.

However, due to biblical scholars' study of the ancient manuscripts of the Bible, it has been omitted from new editions, because it is not found in the early ancient manuscripts. ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We have five shoe-tearing, milk-drinking children who keep us busy and broke. We buy a gallon of milk every day, which is just about right for our family.

I have a relative who comes by the house about three times a week. She is a widow and was close to my mother, so I feel an obligation to be kind to her. Aunt Nellie has a Persian cat whose name is Francesca. Wherever Aunt Nellie goes, Francesca goes, too.

The first thing Aunt Nellie does when she comes to our house is go to the refrigerator and pour half a quart of milk into a bowl for Francesca. Usually the cat drinks about one-third of the milk and leaves the rest. It kills me to pour milk down the drain when my own kids could be drinking it.

Yesterday Francesca put her nose in the milk, turned away and left all of it. Aunt Nellie said, "The milk is probably sour. Puss is very fussy."

I am still boiling. Any suggestions? — THE CAT'S MEOW

Dear Me-ow: When Aunt Nellie comes to call, beat her to the refrigerator. Pour a small quantity of milk into a bowl — about 1-3 of what she pours. This should satisfy both Aunt Nellie and Francesca. It should also reduce your irritation.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a mother trying to raise four children to be decent, self-respecting citizens. The boys are in their early teens. The girls are 10 and 12 years of age.

What can be done about sexy commercials? Where will it all end? Do personal garments such as girdles and brassieres belong on TV? And what about some of those tasteless commercials for medicine?

The commercial for a tension-reducing pill shows a woman in bed wearing a lace nightgown and a transparent negligee.

A girl who does a beer commerical wears a sweater that plunges to her navel. Another girl who advertises a shampoo bends over backwards so the camera can get an unusual angle of her lustrous hair. She doesn't have anything on under her blouse. Is this necessary?

Must we allow this trash to invade our homes? There is much good material on TV and I'd hate to throw out the set altogether. What can be done? —IRATE MOTHER

Dear Irate: Put another piece of paper in your typewriter and write to the sponsors. Let them know you find the advertising offensive and that you will boycott their product until they clean up the commercials. Money not only talks -- it hollers.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy almost 18 and a very good driver. Dad lets me have his car one night a week. We had an agreement that if anything happened to the car while I was driving it I'd have to pay for the repairs, which our insurance policy doesn't cover. (We have $50 deductible.)

Last Friday night a nutty woman driver stopped short right in front of me and I jammed into the rear of her car. There was no way I could have avoided hitting her. Our grill was bent out of shape and a headlight was smashed. The repair bill will be $90. This means I have to come up with $50 out of my own pocket. Is this fair? —JUST PLAIN MAD

Dear J. P. Mad: Yup, it's fair. Anyone who drives a car should be on the look-out for nutty drivers ahead of him, behind him and on either side of him.

What happened was unfortunate, but if you were not tailgating you would not have rammed the car ahead. Consider yourself lucky it wasn't worse, Son.

The Modern Christian

Why Do Catholic Christians Pray A Different "Lord's Prayer" Than Protestant Christians?

Our Father who art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come,
Thy will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
And forgive us our debts,
As we also have forgiven our debtors;
And lead us not into temptation,
But deliver us from evil.

I presume that you are speaking of, "For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen." This is a beautiful ending to the Lord's Prayer, and I personally wish that western cultured Catholics would use it.

Thosands of Catholic school children in the United States are now learning that phrase. Its origin is very ancient and has been used for centuries by Greek and Slavic Catholics, as well as by Byzantine Catholics.

It is still used by millions of Catholics who are the same kind of Catholics as you meet on the streets of Sikeston, and at one time this phrase was found in various Catholic editions of the Bible.

However, due to biblical scholars' study of the ancient manuscripts of the Bible, it has been omitted from new editions, because it is not found in the early ancient manuscripts. Most Protestant and Catholic scholars agreed that the early Greek manuscripts give no evidence of this prayerful ending.

The version of the Lord's Prayer as printed above was taken from the Revised Standard Version Bible (Protestant Edition), published in 1946, and it omits the ending. However, a footnote at the bottom of the page reads: "Other authorities, some ancient, add, in some form, For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen." The Goodspeed Bible, first published in 1939, leaves off the ending, as does the New English Bible, published in 1961 by the Oxford and Cambridge University Press.

If you like the traditional and popular ending, then pray or sing it with all your heart and faith. It is deeply unfortunate that the ending of a prayer should have become a wedge of division among praying Christians. And as I have often done in the past, and will do in the future, pray and sing, "For thine is the kingdom, and the glory, forever, Amen."

New Madrid pitchers struck out 2 Lilbourn hitters, while giving up 3 walks. New Madrid committed 3 errors.

Payne, star pitcher for the Panthers, was lifted in the fourth inning against the Indians. Bodine the short stop came in to pitch for him. Bodine couldn't retire the Indians so they brought in Mitchem to retire the side. Mitchem got shaky in the next inning, so they brought Payne back in to finish up the game.

Baird, Indian third baseman, hit a homer in the third inning with no one on base. Andrews also hit a double for New Madrid in the fifth.

Lilbourn had two extra base hits for the game. Payne slugged a double to left, in the fourth. Mitchem also doubled for the winners.

In the other contest of the afternoon, Campbell stomped Clarkton, 10 to 0. Lilbourn and Clarkton will play in the semi-finals Monday.

Dickenson Takes Wonder Drug, Leads In Tourney

By RONNIE THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Something went awry in Gardner Dickinson's right shoulder as he hit a ball in the practice area minutes before he teed off on the first round of the $50,000 Texas Open. It hurt so much he couldn't swing the club.

So he hurried to the clubhouse and swabbed what he called some "wonder drug" on his shoulder, then went to the first tee.

You'd never have known the shoulder was hurt — he called it a pulled or torn muscle — as he fired a five-under-par 65 to capture the lead Thursday in the Texas Open.

But it was a narrow edge Dickinson carried into today's second round.

He was one stroke ahead of Bert Weaver, the 10th-leading money winner on this year's PGA tour; Tom Aaron, who has never won a tournament but manages to make a good living, and Jacky Cupit, one of the more successful youngsters on the tour.

Jack Rule Jr., Charles Sifford and Kel Nagle were tied with 67s. Steve Opperman, Rocky Thompson and Butch Baird had 68s.

Bobby Nichols, the 1964 PGA champion who won the Houston Classic last week, and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, who finished in a tie for second at Houston one stroke behind Nichols, were among eight knotted at 69.

None of golf's Big Three — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player — is entered.

Dickinson, called golf's Thin Man because of his slight 130-pound build, hasn't won a tournament since the Coral Gables Open in 1962. He turned pro in 1952.

"Without the pain-killer, I absolutely could not have played," Dickinson said after posting his 65.

He explained that he hurt the shoulder when his club jammed into the ground during the third round of the Houston Classic last week, but it seemed to be practically well until Thursday.

Sikeston Golfers Win Over Poplar Bluff & Dexter

Poplar Bluff 172, Sikeston 174. Medalist for the match was Clayton Vandivort who shot a 40.

Caruthersville 178, Sikeston 176, medalist for the match was Clayton Vandivort who again shot a 40.

Dexter 182, Sikeston 172, medalist for the match were Clayton Vandivort and Charles Stamp, who both had a 40.

The Richland sub-district tournament was played again yesterday. There were two games on slate, but only one took place. Some awfully peculiar things have been happening in the tournament. Richland poured it on Oran in their game by the score of 20 to 2. Richland's star shortstop got his ankle broken sliding into third base. At that time Richland was over 12 runs ahead and still hadn't made any substitutions. There were only a couple of innings left to play when all this happened. About the only pitcher Richland has to speak of went the route in that one. He'll have to come back today after only one day's rest to top the Bulldogs. Richland and Sikeston were scheduled to play yesterday, but someone left the water on the field all night, accidentally and it was too wet to play. So here we have nothing but sunshine and heat all week, and we have a game called because of wet grounds.

The Richland Tournament has got to be the most disorganized tournament in the history of state meets. None of the coaches ever know the right times, and everything just seems to be chaos over there. You can ask the time of a game and find out two different times from the same person.

The funny thing about the whole deal is the Richland - Sikeston game and the Bloomfield-Scott Central games both were called because of wet grounds. They re-scheduled the Bloomfield - Scott Central game and played it at Essex. The tournament schedule called for both games to be played on the same day, yet Sikeston was never contacted. Sikeston and Richland are now scheduled to play today.

Both teams will be playing at less than full strength today. Richland's shortstop is out with a broken ankle. Montgomery, Sikeston second baseman, has strep throat and will not see action. Terry James, star outfielder for the Dogs, is also a question mark. James was spiked on the left hand sliding into second, in the game with Matthews.

Saturday is the day of the Northern Division Track and Field Meet here in Sikeston. Many fine athletes will be on hand and many records should fall. We were impressed by the fine sportsmanship shown at the Charleston Tourney. All the teams there were excellent, as far as sportsmanship goes. Sikeston and Charleston have a very deep rilvalry and it's due to tradition between the two schools. We saw a Charleston shotputter tell a Sikeston boy what he was doing wrong in the shot, in turn the Sikeston boy threw his best shot of the day. These teams want to win, but they only want to beat the other team if they are at their best. We can't all be winners, so why not all be good sports?

Bloomfield Nips Scott Central, In Sub-District Play At Richland

Bloomfield's Wildcats swept to a semi-final win yesterday at Richland with a 4 to 1 victory over Scott County Central's Braves.

Scott Central could only manage one hit in the contest. Most of the Braves players had been to the Charleston Track Meet the day before and had not had any hitting practice.

Bloomfield had 7 hits in the game. McAdoo paced the Wildcat attack, blasting out 3 hits. Johnson went the distance for Bloomfield. The Wildcats pitcher allowed only one hit, and one run. Byreans was the losing pitcher for Central.

Bloomfield will play the winner of the Sikeston - Richland contest in the finals Monday.

Drake Relays Begin Today

DES MOINES, Iowa AP -- A mighty weightman, a springy broad jumper and a dismissed track coach elbow for the spotlight in today's opening of the 56th Drake Relays.

Texas A & M's Randy Matson, 260-pound top attraction of the two - day cinder carnival, was expected to launch a bid for a Drake double with a record-smashing discus performance.

Matson will try again for the world's first 68-foot heave in the shot put Saturday.

In the broad jump, New Mexico's Clarence Robinson may shatter the Drake mark of 26-2 in another of today's seven finals.

Robinson also could match Matson as a double winner by taking the triple jump on Saturday's closing program of 20 finals.

Among all the coaches of the 37 university and 47 college squads sending a total of 1,300 athletes into Drake action, the center of conversation was "lame duck" Coach Bill Easton of Kansas.

The 60 - year- old Easton, bringing his 18th Kansas squad to his old stamping grounds, was fined Tuesday after an apparent feud with Athletic Director Wade Stinson.

Easton was Drake track coach and director of the Drake Relays from 1941 through 1947.

Matson has whirled the discus 201-5 1/2, topping the seven-year-old Drake mark by more than 15 feet.

Robinson comes to Drake fresh from a 26-2 1/2 broad jump last week in the Kansas Relays in which he won outstanding athletic laurels.

Charleston, Sikeston Share Top Billing In Conference

The Northern Conference Track and Field Meet returns to Sikeston tomorrow, with morning and afternoon sessions of competition.

The morning session will feature the start of field event competition at 9:30 and running event preliminaries at 9:15.

Cape Central is the defending champion of the meet, but will have to work very hard to retain their crown. Poplar Bluff finished second last year, Charleston third and Sikeston fourth. Charleston and Sikeston have quite a track rivalry this year. Charleston has come out on top of the Bulldogs at Kennett and once at Charleston. Just this Wednesday the Bulldogs topped the Jays by a meager 4 points. All in all it doesn't look like Cape will retain their title unless they come up with some added punch. Sikeston and Charleston should battle it out for the top position.

There should be a lot of Conference records fall when the giants slug it out this Saturday. The meet record for the mile is 4:38.7. East Prairie's Pentigras turned a 4:37.4 at Charleston. Dale Stauffer is also a man capable of breaking that mark. At Charleston Wednesday, Blackman high-jumped a 5'11" and Sikeston's other high jumper, Klehne, went 5'10", either one of these leaps would top the old record of 5'9 3/4". Whoever finishes first in the 2 mile, and the triple jump will also have meet records, since this is the first season for these two events.

This is the order of events for the meet at 9:30 a.m. Pole Vault, Shot put, Discus, Broad Jump, Triple Jump, high jump.

Track Preliminaries 10:15; 120 Yard high hurdles. 10:30; 100 yard dash. 10:45 180 yard low hurdles. 11:00; 220 yard dash finals.

1:30 - 120yard high hurdles.
1:40 - 100 yard dash.
1:50 - 1 mile run.
2:10 - 880 yard relay.
2:25 - 440 yard dash.
2:40 - 180 yard low hurdles.
2:50 - 2 mile run.
3:05 - 880 yard run.
3:15 - 220 yard dash
3:25 - mile relay
3:35 - Awarding of team trophys.

Conference Records

High hurdles (15.6) - Hambar, Poplar Bluff 1962.

Sikeston and Charleston have a very deep rilvalry and it's due to tradition between the two schools. We saw a Charleston shotputter tell a Sikeston boy what he was doing wrong in the shot, in turn the Sikeston boy threw his best shot of the day. These teams want to win, but they only want to beat the other team if they are at their best. We can't all be winners, so why not all be good sports?

Bloomfield's Wildcats swept to a semi-final win yesterday at Richland with a 4 to 1 victory over Scott County Central's Braves.

Bloomfield had 7 hits in the game. McAdoo paced the Wildcat attack, blasting out 3 hits. Johnson went the distance for Bloomfield. The Wildcats pitcher allowed only one hit, and one run. Byreans was the losing pitcher for Central.

Bloomfield will play the winner of the Sikeston - Richland contest in the finals Monday.

Drake Relays Begin Today

DES MOINES, Iowa AP -- A mighty weightman, a springy broad jumper and a dismissed track coach elbow for the spotlight in today's opening of the 56th Drake Relays.

Texas A & M's Randy Matson, 260-pound top attraction of the two - day cinder carnival, was expected to launch a bid for a Drake double with a record-smashing discus performance.

Matson will try again for the world's first 68-foot heave in the shot put Saturday.

In the broad jump, New Mexico's Clarence Robinson may shatter the Drake mark of 26-2 in another of today's seven finals.

Robinson also could match Matson as a double winner by taking the triple jump on Saturday's closing program of 20 finals.

Among all the coaches of the 37 university and 47 college squads sending a total of 1,300 athletes into Drake action, the center of conversation was "lame duck" Coach Bill Easton of Kansas.

The 60 - year- old Easton, bringing his 18th Kansas squad to his old stamping grounds, was fined Tuesday after an apparent feud with Athletic Director Wade Stinson.

Easton was Drake track coach and director of the Drake Relays from 1941 through 1947.

Matson has whirled the discus 201-5 1/2, topping the seven-year-old Drake mark by more than 15 feet.

Robinson comes to Drake fresh from a 26-2 1/2 broad jump last week in the Kansas Relays in which he won outstanding athletic laurels.

Charleston, Sikeston Share Top Billing In Conference

The Northern Conference Track and Field Meet returns to Sikeston tomorrow, with morning and afternoon sessions of competition.

The morning session will feature the start of field event competition at 9;30 and running event preliminaries at 9;15.

Cape Central is the defending champion of the meet, but will have to work very hard to retain their crown. Poplar Bluff finished second last year, Charleston third and Sikeston fourth. Charleston and Sikeston have quite a track rivalry this year. Charleston has come out on top of the Bulldogs at Kennett and once at Charleston. Just this Wednesday the Bulldogs topped the Jays by a meager 4 points. All in all it doesn't look like Cape will retain their title unless they come up with some added punch. Sikeston and Charleston should battle it out for the top position.

There should be a lot of Conference records fall when the giants slug it out this Saturday. The meet record for the mile is 4;38.7. East Prairie's Pentigras turned a 4;37.4 at Charleston. Dale Stauffer is also a man capable of breaking that mark. At Charleston Wednesday, Blackman high-jumped a 5'11" and Sikeston's other high jumper, Klehne, went 5'10", either one of these leaps would top the old record of 5'9 3/4". Whoever finishes first in the 2 mile, and the triple jump will also have meet records, since this is the first season for these two events.

This is the order of events for the meet at 9;30 a.m. Pole Vault, Shot put, Discus, Broad Jump, Triple Jump, high jump.

Track Preliminaries 10;15; 120 Yard high hurdles. 10;30; 100 yard dash. 10;45 180 yard low hurdles. 11;00; 220 yard dash finals.

1;30 - 120yard high hurdles.
1;40 - 100 yard dash.
1;50 - 1 mile run.
2;10 - 880 yard relay.
2;25 - 440 yard dash.
2;40 - 180 yard low hurdles.
2;50 - 2 mile run.
3;05 - 880 yard run.
3;15 - 220 yard dash
3;25 - mile relay
3;35 - Awarding of team trophys.

THIS [illegible] DAY OF March 1965

Commander, 9th Air Division

The mother of Charles Greenwood has good reason to be proud of her son.

Airman Greenwood has distinguished himself by meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial missions as a combat crew member in Southeast Asia from May 24, 1964 to December 31, 1964.

During this time he displayed outstanding airmanship and courage in extremely hazardous conditions, including continuous ground fire from the enemy.

He reflects great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

He was with the 9th Airomedicat squardon and is married and has two small children, Mark and Charles Jr. Currently he is reassigned to Bergstroue Air Force Base in Austin, Tex.

He goes by the nickname of Chuck and received a letter from his counterparts that are still fighting in Southeast Asia. Here is the letter in actual form.

Hi Chuck:

I bet getting this so quick is a surprise to you. Everyone here at the squadron said to say hello to you. I hope that you made it home O. K... I should be getting a letter in a couple of days from my wife telling me about your phone call.

Librarians Of Same Area

Because of their leadership and professional skills, Mrs. Powell, Mr. Koenig, and Mr. Martin, the administrators of the three large public libraries in the area, are now considered pioneers in Missouri Library development. Their libraries are now participating in the first library system in the state of Missouri. The SEMO Federated Library Service System, which was formed with the careful guidance of the librarians and boards of the three libraries and the Missouri State Library began operation January 1, 1965. One purpose of this system is to establish a cooperative system whereby books and other materials may circulate freely to the system libraries for use by responsible patrons. The most important goal is through a cooperative effort all the libraries will achieve the standards for service, book collection and selection, and personnel as outlined in Standards of Library Service: A Guide to its Development.

Mrs. Rowe Powell of Charleston has worked at the Mississippi County Library since 1948 and became administrative librarian in 1952. Mrs. Powell, born in Columbia, Missouri, graduated from the University of Missouri with a major in art and a minor in history. Mrs. Powell has also done graduate work in the field of children's literature and library science. Prior to her position with the county library she taught school for four years.

Rowe Powell, her husband, is employed at the First Security State Bank in Charleston. The Powells have three children. Betty Jane works in Memphis, Ronny is a student at the University of Missouri, and Judy attends Charleston High School.

Mrs. Powell is a member of the Missouri Library Association, American Library Association, and the SEMO Libraries Round Table, having served as president of the latter for three years. Active in many community organizations, she states that she is now active in the Athena Club and the Methodist Church. Known for her many hobbies and skills, Mrs. Powell mentioned art, crafts, antiques, camping, and fishing as her favorite hobbies.

Reading and traveling are Gene Martin's primary interests, and he states, "I would like to do a great deal more of the latter if time and money permitted". Mr. Martin, librarian of Cape Girardeau Public Library also states that he writes both as a hobby and an avocation.

Active in community affairs, he has served as a member of the Citizen's Advisory Committee to the School Board, and as secretary of the Cape Girardeau County Heart Council. Married to the former Marian Bahn, Gene comments that their family consists of two sons, Douglas and Bruce, and one French poodle. The Martin family attends the First Presbyterian Church.

A native of the Cape Girardeau area, Gene Martin graduated from College High and Southeast Missouri State College. After serving in the U. S. Navy, Mr. Martin attended the Graduate School of Library Science, University of Illinois.

Gene Martin has held several library positions which have given him a variety of experiences. His first job was a position in the cataloging department and ready reference service department at Cincinnati Public Library. He has also served as assistant and branch librarian at Jeffersonville Township Public Library Jeffersonville, Indiana, and administrative librarian of the Ozark Regional Library, Ironton, Missouri.

Mr. Martin's significant leadership in Missouri Library Association, as well as in Missouri library development, is pointed out by the fact that during his presidency of the organization and afterward, his chairmanship of the Missouri Library Association Library Development Committee, the very important document, Missouri Library Service, A Guide to its Development was compiled; this document is serving as the cornerstone to all library development in the state at the present time.

Besides his membership in the Missouri Library Association, he is a member of the American Library Association and the Southeast Missouri Librarians Round Table. He is currently serving as chairman of the A. L. A. Membership Committee from Missouri and co-chairman of the Intellectual Freedom Committee of the Missouri Library Association. Because of the outstanding role he has had in Missouri Library Development, Mr. Martin will be one of the guest speakers at the Inter-library Cooperation Meeting at the annual conference of the American Library Association in Detroit this summer.

"The stork did its work good and strong" was the local newspaper's announcement when Mary Kempe, reference librarian at Cape Public Library, arrived as one of a pair of girls at the home in which she still resides. Some 22 years later she graduated with a major in history from Southeast Missouri State College. She states, "Then several years of teaching in the local elementary schools, a saxaphone, and a scholarship made it financially possible for me to enter Peabody Library School." Following graduation, she became librarian at Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia. After nine years in this position, she came to the Cape Girardeau Public Library, where she has been for 21 years. Miss Kempe has contributed much to the library and her community. She is an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

She states that her avocation is housekeeping. Her favorite diversion is television, with a preference for the musical variety program. Miss Kempe states, "My motto, exemplified by the two Biblical sisters whose names I bear, is 'Learn and do'."

Mr. Otto Koenig, librarian of Riverside Regional Library, was born and reared at New Wells, where he attended the parochial and the public schools. In 1927 he was graduated from the College High School and enrolled at the State College in Cape Girardeau. He received his degree in education in 1931, and later an AB in physical science and mathematics. He taught in the rural schools at Farrar, Frohna, Pocahontas, and Altenburg, and later in the high schools at Patton, Sedgewickville, Hillsboro, Ironton, and Annapolis. During World War 11 he was a civilian instructor in radio mechanics in the Army Aircraft Technical Training School at Scott Field.

Living in Ironton during the years 1943-1947, Mr. Koenig operated a Walgreen Agency Drug Store. He helped promote the formation of a county library in Iron County, and served as a charter member of the board of the Ozark Regional Library.

After receiving a degree in library science from Washington University, Mr. Koenig served as head librarian of the New Madrid County Library from 1951 until 1955, when he accepted his present position with the Riverside Regional Library.

Mr. Koenig has a wide range of interests. The library, books, and schools are in first place, but he is also a historian and an authority on local and Missouri history. He has written a short history of the iron industry of Iron County and of the Battle of Pilot Knob. Perhaps his most widely read and circulated historical work is a sketch of the Cherokee Indians' Trail of Tears. Mr. Koenig now lives at Gordonville with his wife and 12-year-old daughter.

Earl Oldham, Assistant Librarian of Riverside Regional Library since 1957, has always had a special interest in education. To him schools and libraries are very important. He is a past president of the Cape Girardeau County School Board, and is now serving as president of the Jackson R-2 School Board.

Mr. Oldham was born near Jackson, and moved to Cape Girardeau at an early age. All of his education, including high school and college, has been in the schools of Cape Girardeau. He served three years during World War 11 with the Seventh Air Force stationed at Bellows Field, Oahee, Hawaii. He married Elizabeth Kinder of Burfordville, and they, with their daughter Vicki, a junior at Jackson High School, now live in Burfordville. He is a member and deacon of Burfordville Baptist Church. For the past several years he has been co-chairman of the Burfordville Mill and Covered Bridge Committee of the Cape Girardeau County Historical Society. He has been with the Riverside Regional Library from its organization in 1955, first serving on the bookmobile. He has been assistant librarian since 1957.

Today's Spanish Lesson

By William Archer
Lesson No. 50
Reading time 5 Min.
Study time 5 Min.

You know how to say 'Tengo que' (I have to). We will now show you how to use the verb 'Tener que' (to have to) in the past tense:

Present Tense -- A) I have to eat. B) Tengo que comer. C) TANG-go/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) I had to eat. B) Tuve que comer. C) TOO-vay/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) He has to eat. B) El tiene que comer. C) 1/tea - EN - nay/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) He had to eat. B) El tuvo que comer. C) 1/TOO-vo/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) We have to eat. B) Tenemos que comer. C) ten-NAY-mos/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) We had to eat. B) Tuvimos que comer. C) too-VEE-mos/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) They have to eat. B) Ellos tienen que comer. C) A-yos/tea - EN-en/k/co - MARE

Past tense - A) They had to eat. B) Ellos tuvieron que comer. C) A - yos/too-vee-AIR-ron/k/co - MARE

Every verb infinitive of the Spanish language will bend to these "keys." Let me caution 'you again to use these new "keys" in the same way that a child does. First, he uses the first person singular: 'I want,' 'I wanted' -- 'I can,' 'I was able to (I could)' -- 'I have to,' 'I had to'. Then he adds the three "keys," 'y usted' (did you); 'y nosotros todos' (did we all); 'y ellos' (did they). In this manner, he is able to use, with the help of the auxiliaries, the other persons.

Now you have the tools to say anything you care to in Spanish. All you need is practice, and to attune your ears to Spanish sound. You are not a finished student in Spanish, but the basic groundwork has been given you -- you are able to think in and express yourself in the language. Should you desire to attack the intricate grammer and conjugations, you are equipped for further study.

He is currently serving as chairman of the A. L. A. Membership Committee from Missouri and co-chairman of the Intellectual Freedom Committee of the Missouri Library Association. Because of the outstanding role he has had in Missouri Library Development, Mr. Martin will be one of the guest speakers at the Inter-library Cooperation Meeting at the annual conference of the American Library Association in Detroit this summer.

"The stork did its work good and strong" was the local newspaper's announcement when Mary Kempe, reference librarian at Cape Public Library, arrived as one of a pair of girls at the home in which she still resides. Some 22 years later she graduated with a major in history from Southeast Missouri State College. She states, "Then several years of teaching in the local elementary schools, a saxaphone, and a scholarship made it financially possible for me to enter Peabody Library School." Following graduation, she became librarian at Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia. After nine years in this position, she came to the Cape Girardeau Public Library, where she has been for 21 years. Miss Kempe has contributed much to the library and her community. She is an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

She states that her avocation is housekeeping. Her favorite diversion is television, with a preference for the musical variety program. Miss Kempe states, "My motto, exemplified by the two Biblical sisters whose names I bear, is 'Learn and do'."

Mr. Otto Koenig, librarian of Riverside Regional Library, was born and reared at New Wells, where he attended the parochial and the public schools. In 1927 he was graduated from the College High School and enrolled at the State College in Cape Girardeau. He received his degree in education in 1931, and later an AB in physical science and mathematics. He taught in the rural schools at Farrar, Frohna, Pocahontas, and Altenburg, and later in the high schools at Patton, Sedgewickville, Hillsboro, Ironton, and Annapolis. During World War 11 he was a civilian instructor in radio mechanics in the Army Aircraft Technical Training School at Scott Field

Living in Ironton during the years 1943-1947, Mr. Koenig operated a Walgreen Agency Drug Store. He helped promote the formation of a county library in Iron County, and served as a charter member of the board of the Ozark Regional Library.

After receiving a degree in library science from Washington University, Mr. Koenig served as head librarian of the New Madrid County Library from 1951 until 1955, when he accepted his present position with the Riverside Regional Library.

Mr. Koenig has a wide range of interests. The library, books, and schools are in first place, but he is also a historian and an authority on local and Missouri history. He has written a short history of the iron industry of Iron County and of the Battle of Pilot Knob. Perhaps his most widely read and circulated historical work is a sketch of the Cherokee Indians' Trail of Tears. Mr. Koenig now lives at Gordonville with his wife and 12-year-old daughter.

Earl Oldham, Assistant Librarian of Riverside Regional Library since 1957, has always had a special interest in education. To him schools and libraries are very important. He is a past president of the Cape Girardeau County School Board, and is now serving as president of the Jackson R-2 School Board.

Mr. Oldham was born near Jackson, and moved to Cape Girardeau at an early age. All of his education, including high school and college, has been in the schools of Cape Girardeau. He served three years during World War 11 with the Seventh Air Force stationed at Bellows Field, Oahee, Hawaii. He married Elizabeth Kinder of Burfordville, and they, with their daughter Vicki, a junior at Jackson High School, now live in Burfordville. He is a member and deacon of Burfordville Baptist Church. For the past several years he has been co-chairman of the Burfordville Mill and Covered Bridge Committee of the Cape Girardeau County Historical Society. He has been with the Riverside Regional Library from its organization in 1955, first serving on the bookmobile. He has been assistant librarian since 1957.

Today's Spanish Lesson

By William Archer
Lesson No. 50
Reading time 5 Min.
Study time 5 Min.

You know how to say 'Tengo que' (I have to). We will now show you how to use the verb 'Tener que' (to have to) in the past tense:

Present Tense -- A) I have to eat. B) Tengo que comer. C) TANG-go/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) I had to eat. B) Tuve que comer. C) TOO-vay/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) He has to eat. B) El tiene que comer. C) 1/tea - EN - nay/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) He had to eat. B) El tuvo que comer. C) 1/TOO-vo/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) We have to eat. B) Tenemos que comer. C) ten-NAY-mos/k/co-MARE

Past tense - A) We had to eat. B) Tuvimos que comer. C) too-VEE-mos/k/co - MARE

Present tense - A) They have to eat. B) Ellos tienen que comer. C) A-yos/tea - EN-en/k/co - MARE

Past tense - A) They had to eat. B) Ellos tuvieron que comer. C) A - yos/too-vee-AIR-ron/k/co - MARE

Every verb infinitive of the Spanish language will bend to these "keys." Let me caution you again to use these new "keys" in the same way that a child does. First, he uses the first person singular: 'I want,' 'I wanted' -- 'I can,' 'I was able to (I could)' -- 'I have to,' 'I had to'. Then he adds the three "keys," 'y usted' (did you); 'y nosotros todos' (did we all); 'y ellos' (did they). In this manner, he is able to use, with the help of the auxiliaries, the other persons.

Now you have the tools to say anything you care to in Spanish. All you need is practice, and to attune your ears to Spanish sound. You are not a finished student in Spanish, but the basic groundwork has been given you -- you are able to think in and express yourself in the language. Should you desire to attack the intricate grammer and conjugations, you are equipped for further study.

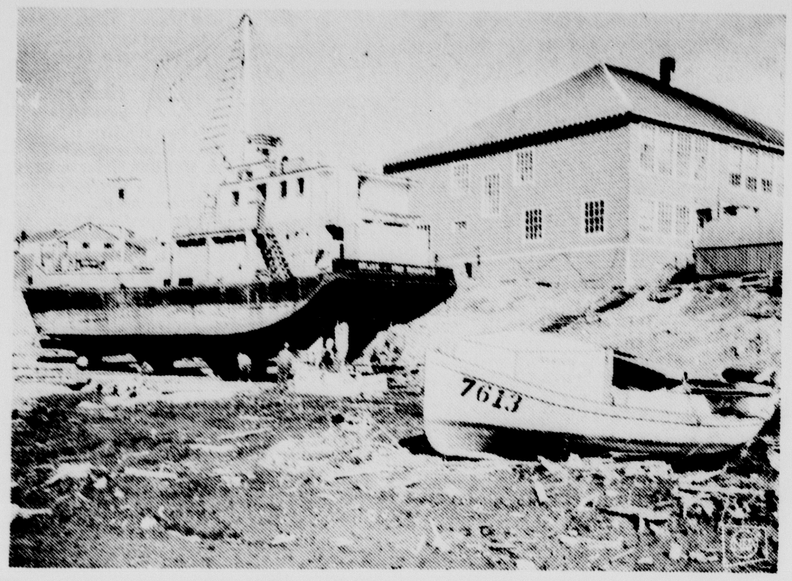
ONE YEAR LATER---
ALASKA REMEMBERS

On Good Friday last year, March 27, catastrophe struck in Alaska. Severe earthquakes and tidal waves wracked coastal towns and cities. Thanks to their own energies and the help of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the scenes of destruction shown in these pictures, taken as the cleaning up started, have largely been erased. Restoration began the very next morning and has continued every day since, despite the scourging of the workers by icy winter winds for the past six months. Just picking up the debris since the night of the 'quake involved 2,000 men working all through April at a cost of about $3,500,000. Rebuilding was preceded by a three-month study of the "crazy clays," the villains in the landslides that tore the heart out of fine residential sections of Anchorage. One result of the soils study is the decision to move the entire town of Valdez, of gold rush fame, to a new, more stable location.



The grounds of the Kodiak public school became a "port" for fishing boats. They were hurled there by 40-foot waves generated by the earthquake.

Mother Earth's convulsions threw some fancy curves into the steel rails of the Alaska Railroad.

Residents of Anchorage, dispossessed by the 'quake, walk past what had been a new six-story building before the quivering earth shook it down.

March Savings Bond Sales Announced

Donald R. Bohannon, Savings Bonds Chairman for Scott County, has today announced the March Savings Bonds sales of $23,381, which brings the first quarter sales to a total of $86,874, or 14.9% of the 1965 quota.

The Chairman said: "The sales clearly show that the residents of our county are continuing to build financial security for themselves and their families through their regular investments in our government's Savings Bonds. The value of Savings Bonds continues to grow month after month, due to the accumulation of interest on these securities.

'They are always worth the original purchase price plus any interest earned at the time of redemption. Such interest is not subject to state tax as in the case of other types of investments."

John L. Wilson, State Chairman of the Missouri Savings Bonds Committee, announced the sales for the state of Missouri during the month of March amounted to $12,664,767, bringing the first three months' total to $37,527,009, or 25.8% of the 1965 goal. "Thus," he said, "the sales of Savings Bonds for the first quarter are slightly above 'the beam'."

'In order to increase the sale of Savings Bonds to more people, the Treasury will conduct an intensified sales campaign to be known as the 'Star-Spangled Savings Promotion' beginning May 1, the 24th anniversary of the Savings Bonds Program," the State Chairman concluded.

The Savings Bonds sales are in the following order: County; E and H; Jan. 1 to Mar. 31; and per cent of quota.

Mississippi $21,987; $44,230; 16.1%
New Madrid $8,981; $16,762; 5.4%
Pemiscot $5,662; $41,455; 11.6%
Scott $23,381; $86,874; 14.9%
Stoddard $6,862; $56,605; 18.4%

SOMETHING OLD SOMETHING NEW

These—without anything borrowed or blue—can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart — she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SOMETHING NEW

These—without anything borrowed or blue—can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart — she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

GOD'S PURPOSE THROUGH HIS PEOPLE

The State Reorganization Commission of Missouri

PURCHASING (Con't.))

The 1965 Commission finds that the provisions of these statutes are generally not being followed. The following examples characterize the violations:

(1) No committee as provided for in Section 216.485, RSMo 1959 exists, nor has one been appointed.

(2) On June 1, 1964 only two state institutions had filed abbrevi[illegible] estimates of prison indust[illegible]oduct demands for the coming fiscal year.

(3) Repeated instances of violations (1) and (2) may have precluded a revision of prison industries' descriptive list of articles--the last revision was July 1, 1961.

(4) There is evidence of institutions and agencies purchasing products from commercial vendors at prices higher than those charged by prison industries for comparable merchandise. An investigation of purchase orders issued during November and December for four-drawer legal size filing cabinets revealed such items purchased at the following prices: (a) $105.45, (b) $276.97, and (c) $89.60. During the same period, prison industries sold acceptable four-drawer legal size filing cabinets for $70.00 without a lock, and $75.00 with a lock.

Institutions and/or agencies have claimed they must buy five-drawer filing cabinets from commercial vendors, since prison industries do not manufacture such an item. The director of prison industries indicates willingness to purchase dies for such items, when there is an indicated demand; however, the failure of institutions and agencies in filing their estimated yearly demands have precluded such a modification in the manufacturing equipment. The director estimates modifications enabling the manufacture of five-drawer filing cabinets possible at a one-time cost of approximately $5000. This is a small amount compared to the savings possible, if all five-drawer filing cabinets for future use in state offices were to be purchased from prison industries.

An investigation of prison industries' plant and equipment revealed quantity and quality capabilities satisfactory for state needs. For example: the soap manufacturing facility is operated under the supervision of a registered professional chemical engineer. Equipment is adequate for manufacturing most detergents used by state institutions. The director of prison industries stated a willingness to manufacture detergents that would meet any specifications provided by the user.

The metal forming (cutting, stamping, assembling, and painting) facilities and the woodworking facilities appear adequate for increased production; and versatile enough for a number of fabricating jobs not now demanded of prison industries.

The 1965 Commission recognizes that patronage of prison industries instead of purchase from commercial vendors may involve a careful examination of purchasing policy and state-business philosophy. However, a very large majority of state institutions and agencies have violated the prison industries statutes (Sections 216.510 and 216.515) and made individuals liable to the penalties provided within time periods allowed by Missouri's statute of limitations. It is highly probable that some institutions and agencies will continue violation of these purchasing laws. The 1965 Commission feels that many of these violations are not willful disobedience of the laws, but ignorance of prison industries' capabilities and policies regarding quality control and pricing. These statutes should either be enforced or repealed.

88. Recommendation:

That the last clause of Section 34.070, RSMo 1959, which gives preference to Missouri products and firms when, "quality and price are approximately the same" be changed to read, "when quality is equal and delivered price the same or less."

This 1955 recommendation is repeated. No legislation has been enacted to change the wording of Section 34.070.

The 1965 Commission feels that Missouri firms and their products can compete on equal terms with out-of-state firms. The present wording of the statute allows considerable latitude in interpretation. This latitude may place the Purchasing Agent in a difficult position.

The recommended change will still allow the Purchasing Agent sufficient latitude in making purchases; and it will give him the advantages of a relatively competitive market by recognizing out-of-state vendors.

Samuel Harbin Named To Committee

Samuel Harbin has been named a committee member of Education Committee.

Mr. William Howard Adams, Chairman of the Missouri Council on the Arts, has announced the appointment of special Advisory Committees, in Theater, Music, Visual Arts, and Education. These Committees, composed of experienced citizens, will advise and make recommendations to the Council on programs to enlarge the cultural life of the state and to stimulate and develop the arts for the citizens of Missouri.

In making the announcement, Mr. Adams said that the bill to establish the Council and its program has received strong support from virtually every cultural and educational institution and leader in the state. Governor Warren E. Hearnes included funds for the Council in his proposed budget and urged passage of the bill in his message to the legislature where it was passed by the House and now awaits final action in the Senate. Mr. Adams also said that prompt action by the Legislature had become more important in recent weeks in view of the developments in Congress to provide matching funds for individual state programs. Senator Edward V. Long has been active in helping to shape the Federal legislation, and is a sponsor of one of the important federal bills.

Because of the work of the original Governor's Art Committee, Missouri has achieved a substantial lead in creating a state-wide arts program, along with New York and California. Twenty - four other states now have taken steps to create councils along lines similar to the program outlined for Missouri. A list of the Committees follows.

Just how much does the new homeowners policy cover. My friend says it covers almost all risks of physical loss to a home such as water damage, glass breakage and vandalism. How about replacement value as compared to depreciated value in case of fire? Does it really pay the full replacement value as my friend says?

Magistrate Court

BENTON-- The following CRIMINAL CASES were heard here:

R. T. Troop, ASSAULT. Case dismissed by the state at the cost of the defendant.

Jack Lee Hodges, PERMITTING AN UNAUTHORIZED PERSON TO DRIVE. Defendant enters a plea of "NOT GUILTY" and case is dismissed by the State and costs ordered certified.

Henry Holland, Count I: DRIVING WHILE IN INTOXICATED CONDITION. Count II: OBSTRUCTING TRAFFIC.

Driver's license ordered returned to defendant on condition that he refrain from drinking any intoxicants for a period of one year.

While installing windows on a house near the state highway, I saw the woman next door and her three small children get into the car parked in their driveway. Noticing that the car had a flat tire, I tried to get the woman's attention, but she had already started the engine and was purposefully backing out onto the busy highway. Once on the road, she pulled over to the shoulder and, leaving the children in the car, got out and stood looking helplessly at the flat tire.

Almost at once a motorist stopped and offered his assistance. After he had changed the tire, accepted her thanks and continued on his way, the clear-thinking housewife turned into the driveway again, unloaded the children and went back to her household chores. —H. E. Newland

April 23, 1945

The Rev. Paul Higgins, who will graduate from Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Ky., next month, has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Johnson City, Ill., friends here have learned.

Mr. and Mrs. John Russell entertained with a dinner Sunday at their home on Stoddard street complimentary to the latter's nephew, Cpl. Joe Dye, who was en route to his new station with the army in Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Schlosser and children will take possession of their new home on North Ranney avenue during the weekend. The residence was recently purchased from L. H. Shivel, former laundry owner here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hatfield and daughter, Miss Margaret Ann, who have been residing in Ellisville, Miss., the past year, will arrive at their home here next month following the close of school where their daughter is a member of the senior graduating class. The condition of Mr. Hatfield, whose health had been impaired, is said to be much improved.

Today In U. S. History

Today is Friday, April 23, the 113th day of 1965. There are 252 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1896, the first screen-projected movies were shown in New York City through a crude device developed by Thomas Armat. Earlier, Thomas A. Edison had demonstrated his Kinetoscope but Armat's jerky and erratic figures were in motion, a quality not seen before.

On this date

In 1564, poet and dramatist William Shakespeare was born.

In 1791, James Buchanan, the 15th president, was born in Franklin County, Pa.

In 1905, actor Joe Jefferson died.

In 1941, King George of Greece fled to Crete.

Ten years ago- Delegates from 29 Asian-African nations, meeting at Bandung, Indonesia, announced aims of ending colonialism and giving self-determination to all peoples.

Five years ago--French President Charles de Gaulle told a Washington news conference he saw no hope of solving the Berlin and German problems at a summit conference.

One year ago--Fugitive financier Lowell Bierrell returned to the United States from Brazil to face charges of stock fraud and income tax evasion.

Malden Student Named Officer In Fraternity

COLUMBIA, MO., Apr. 23 -- Bob Hutcherson, Marshall, has been elected chancellor of the Missouri Chapter of the Fraternity of Alpha Zeta, a national agricultural honorary fraternity, on the Columbia campus of the University of Missouri.

Others elected to office are Herman Harrison, censor, Malden; Darold Tilly, scribe, Odessa; John Fidler, treasurer, Stockton; Kenneth Lenz, guide, Boonville; Ted Richter, chronicler, Ash Grove; and Alois Kertz, agricultural council representative, Bloomsdale.

John R. Campbell, assistant professor of dairy husbandry, has been named senior advisor. He succeeds Leonard A. Voss, associate professor of agricultural economics.

College of Agriculture students newly initiated into the fraternity are James Allwood, Carrollton; John Bacher, Greenwood; George Brown, Brighton; Ortis E. Carmichael, Chillicothe; Kenneth Cartwright, St. Ann; Danny Clemens, Marshfield; Dennis Cole, Diamond; Charles Kircher, Pleasant Hill; John Prange, Shelbyville; Richard Rhoades, Hillsboro, Texas; James Sheerman, Holiday; Steven O. Smith, Brunswick; William T. Thorne, Linneus; William Toedebusch, Defiance; Gary VanHoozer, Tarkio; Francis Vogt, Ste. Genevieve; Kenneth Vroman, Fayette; Charles Wallace, Hammond; Donald Walsh Glencoe; Kenneth White, La-Plata; and four of the officers, John Fidler, Alois Kertz, Kenneth Lenz, and Ted Richter.

Members are selected on the basis of high scholarship, character, leadership, and personality.

Purposes of Alpha Zeta include promotion of agriculture as a profession, and the rendering of service to students and agricultural divisions.

The parents of six-year-old David had a few doubts about the somewhat progressive school their son attended. Half humorously they were describing his schedule to friends: "He has orange juice at 9:15, play period from 9:30 to 10 and rest period at 11. How can he be learning anything?"

At this, David, who was playing nearby, interrupted indignantly: "I'm learning a lot! I've learned to read and write. All last fall I only missed one word."

"What word was that, David?"

"Socio-economic." — Henry H. Hill.

Bootheel Beat . . .

—By MAX STURM—

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI NEWS SIDELIGHTS, FEATURES AND OBSERVATIONS.

WHETHER OR NOT most of the cities and towns in the Bootheel will wind up on Daylight Saving Time this spring and summer was a subject that was attracting the interest of a growing number of residents of the area this week, with the national official starting time set for Sunday, April 25.

So far, among the cities and towns all set to go on DST are Sikeston, Oran, Cape Girardeau, New Madrid, Dexter, Bloomfield and Caruthersville.

When Caruthersville moved to adopt it, Hayti citizens took a renewed interest in the matter since the two towns are so close together (five miles) and so interelated in all phases of daily living that complications would arise with the two towns one hour apart by the clock. Hayti Mayor L. R. Bain said that while the city board had discussed it, no action had been taken so far. "Just waiting to see what Kennett and Portageville are going to do."

It would appear that if so many Bootheel towns are going on DST, the others might as well adopt it and make it unanimous so all of us will be on an equal time footing -- and keep down confusion. Since there are so many outdoor sports and other recreational activities during the summer months in the region, an extra hour of daylight ought to prove helpful.

I LIKE TO ATTEND groundbreaking ceremonies because they mean that new facilities are to be constructed, and that is a part of progress in the Bootheel.

Last Sunday the Calvary Baptist Church in Hayti, organized several months ago, held it's ground - breaking for a new church building. Turning the first spade of earth were the congregation's oldest and youngest members -- G. W. Coldtharpe, age 74, and Jeanne Thompson, age 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Thompson.

Work on the footing was proceeding this week. The new religious facility will cost some $25,000 and will occupy a site at Second St. and Washington Blvd. formerly occupied by a Christian Church which some years ago disbanded. The old frame building the Christian congregation had used in past years was improved and has been used by the Calvary Baptists since its organization. This building, facing east on Second St., was moved to near the western boundary of the property and turned to face north. It will be used as an educational building by the Baptists on completion of their new building. The pastor is the Rev. Glynn Harwood.

Anyone driving or walking through Hayti during church service periods may be surprised to see the number of automobiles parked in that area of the city. There are now four churches there with only one city block between each of them. Starting on the north side of Highway 84 (Washington Blvd.) there is first the Church of Christ. One block south is the Hayti Methodist Church. One block west on Highway 84 is the Calvary Baptist Church, and one block south of this one is the First Baptist Church. You can hardly tell one congregation's cars from its neighbor's.

BOOTHEEL FARMERS haven't been too easy to get along with during the past several weeks, due to frequent rains delaying their work. In past years when mule power was generally used to do the heavy work, such a situation would have been critical, because considerable time was needed to get the plowing done, and it couldn't be done at night.

With the speedy tractors, however, the farmers are in position to catch up with their field work quite rapidly -- the tractors can run at night as well as in daylight. Thus, while the rains have held up such work in the region so far this spring, it is surprising how much can be done in a few days, once the fields have dried and the weather clears. So, at this stage, no one expects to miss a crop. It is just going to take a little night work here and there to take up the slack.

THE TV VIEWS OF ALL those people in a number of towns and cities along the northern reaches of the Mississippi River doing sandbagging work to hold back the flood waters this week again points up the exceptional value of the great levee system of the St. Francis Levee District which successfully contains the river along the eastern side of the Bootheel.

There are many citizens who will recall when they also put in sandbagging duty along the old Mississippi River levee years ago when the levee wasn't very large. Since then, however, the levee has been rebuilt to much higher and broader standards with the result that we citizens feel quite secure from any ravages of the river, and there is a generation or two growing up here who will never know what it is like to do sandbagging work. It's just as well that they don't. . . .

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW HAYTI CHURCH--The oldest and the youngest members of the Calvary Baptist Church at Hayti combined to turn the first spade of earth in a ground-breaking ceremony to mark the start of the construction of the congregation's new $25,000 building. G. W. Coldtharpe, age 74, and little Jeanne Thompson, age 11, used the spade. Standing behind them are, from left, R. N. Brasher, Quillard Skinner, Lester Bailey, Floyd Shirey, James Cross, Dr. A. G. Shirey, Hurtle Barnes, Starr McDaniel, Edmund Cooper and Harry B. Dowdy, all members of the building committee, deacons and trustees, and the Rev. Glynn Narwood, pastor.--Max Sturm Photo.

Bootheel Beat . . .

—By MAX STURM—

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI NEWS SIDELIGHTS, FEATURES AND OBSERVATIONS.

WHETHER OR NOT most of the cities and towns in the Bootheel will wind up on Daylight Saving Time this spring and summer was a subject that was attracting the interest of a growing number of residents of the area this week, with the national official starting time set for Sunday, April 25.

So far, among the cities and towns all set to go on DST are Sikeston, Oran, Cape Girardeau, New Madrid, Dexter, Bloomfield and Caruthersville.

When Caruthersville moved to adopt it, Hayti citizens took a renewed interest in the matter since the two towns are so close together (five miles) and so interelated in all phases of daily living that complications would arise with the two towns one hour apart by the clock. Hayti Mayor L. R. Bain said that while the city board had discussed it, no action had been taken so far. "Just waiting to see what Kennett and Portageville are going to do."

It would appear that if so many Bootheel towns are going on DST, the others might as well adopt it and make it unanimous so all of us will be on an equal time footing -- and keep down confusion. Since there are so many outdoor sports and other recreational activities during the summer months in the region, an extra hour of daylight ought to prove helpful.

I LIKE TO ATTEND groundbreaking ceremonies because they mean that new facilities are to be constructed, and that is a part of progress in the Bootheel.

Last Sunday the Calvary Baptist Church in Hayti, organized several months ago, held it's ground - breaking for a new church building. Turning the first spade of earth were the congregation's oldest and youngest members -- G. W. Coldtharpe, age 74, and Jeanne Thompson, age 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Thompson.

Work on the footing was proceeding this week. The new religious facility will cost some $25,000 and will occupy a site at Second St. and Washington Blvd. formerly occupied by a Christian Church which some years ago disbanded. The old frame building the Christian congregation had used in past years was improved and has been used by the Calvary Baptists since its organization. This building, facing east on Second St., was moved to near the western boundary of the property and turned to face north. It will be used as an educational building by the Baptists on completion of their new building. The pastor is the Rev. Glynn Harwood.

Anyone driving or walking through Hayti during church service periods may be surprised to see the number of automobiles parked in that area of the city. There are now four churches there with only one city block between each of them. Starting on the north side of Highway 84 (Washington Blvd.) there is first the Church of Christ. One block south is the Hayti Methodist Church. One block west on Highway 84 is the Calvary Baptist Church, and one block south of this one is the First Baptist Church. You can hardly tell one congregation's cars from its neighbor's.

BOOTHEEL FARMERS haven't been too easy to get along with during the past several weeks, due to frequent rains delaying their work. In past years when mule power was generally used to do the heavy work, such a situation would have been critical, because considerable time was needed to get the plowing done, and it couldn't be done at night.

With the speedy tractors, however, the farmers are in position to catch up with their field work quite rapidly -- the tractors can run at night as well as in daylight. Thus, while the rains have held up such work in the region so far this spring, it is surprising how much can be done in a few days, once the fields have dried and the weather clears. So, at this stage, no one expects to miss a crop. It is just going to take a little night work here and there to take up the slack.

THE TV VIEWS OF ALL those people in a number of towns and cities along the northern reaches of the Mississippi River doing sandbagging work to hold back the flood waters this week again points up the exceptional value of the great levee system of the St. Francis Levee District which successfully contains the river along the eastern side of the Bootheel.

There are many citizens who will recall when they also put in sandbagging duty along the old Mississippi River levee years ago when the levee wasn't very large. Since then, however, the levee has been rebuilt to much higher and broader standards with the result that we citizens feel quite secure from any ravages of the river, and there is a generation or two growing up here who will never know what it is like to do sandbagging work. It's just as well that they don't. . . .

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW HAYTI CHURCH--The oldest and the youngest members of the Calvary Baptist Church at Hayti combined to turn the first spade of earth in a ground-breaking ceremony to mark the start of the construction of the congregation's new $25,000 building. G. W. Coldtharpe, age 74, and little Jeanne Thompson, age 11, used the spade. Standing behind them are, from left, R. N. Brasher, Quillard Skinner, Lester Bailey, Floyd Shirey, James Cross, Dr. A. G. Shirey, Hurtle Barnes, Starr McDaniel, Edmund Cooper and Harry B. Dowdy, all members of the building committee, deacons and trustees, and the Rev. Glynn Narwood, pastor.--Max Sturm Photo.
